Governors Will Take No Action On Wickersham Plea

MANY FAVOR STATE PLAN SUGGESTED

Executives, However, Fail To Endorse or Reject Volstead Law Changes

LETTER IS DISCUSSED

Treasury Officials Assert Modification Unnecessary to Enforce Laws

EASTERN POINT, Conn., July 17.—(UP)—A by-law of the governors' conference probably will prevent official action on George W. Wickersham's proposal for dividing prohibition enforcement functions between the states and the federal government in such manner that the national and state prohibition laws "might be modified so as to become reasonably enforceable," it was learned today.

Under the rules of the conference, which is now in its twenty-first renewal here, resolutions may not be passed on controversial subjects.

Wickersham's suggestion—coming as it did from the chairman of President Hoover's law enforcement commission—nevertheless has thrown the visiting executives into a turmoil of discussion.

The proposal was contained in a letter written to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and read to a startled conference at yesterday's opening session.

"If the national government were to attempt to prevent importation, manufacture and shipment in interstate commerce of intoxicants the state undertaking the internal police regulations to prevent sale, saloons, etc., national and state laws might be modified so as to become reasonably enforceable and one great source of demoralizing and peculiarly profitable crime removed," read the letter.

Most of the governors indicated a reluctance to approve or reject the plan definitely. Thus far, no one of them has definitely come out in favor of the complete proposal. A number, however, were in favor of the states undertaking some portion of the enforcement.

Governor Roosevelt withheld comment, merely suggesting a round table discussion in executive session to discuss, "as heads of 48 of

COUNTY BOARD ASKED TO GIVE DATA FOR DAM

Water Users Seek Reasons Why Upper Prado Site Is Not Feasible

A COMMUNICATION from the Water Users' association, signed by J. C. Metzgar, manager, asking the board of supervisors to issue a statement giving all the legal, economic and engineering reasons why an Orange county flood control dam cannot or should not be constructed at the upper Prado site, was read to the board at its meeting yesterday. The communication was filed with the association's report to the report of Paul Bailey, former flood control engineer for this district, for the information desired.

After the letter had been read by County Clerk J. M. Backs, Supervisor William Schumacher, of Anaheim, suggested that the Water Users' association be referred to the Bailey report. Supervisor George Jeffrey, of Irvine, supported the suggestion. The text of the letter was as follows:

"It was stated during the recent bond campaign by county officials and other spokesmen that the Prado dam site could not possibly be used for flood control and water conservation purposes. The citizens of Orange county as a whole never have been fully informed on this subject and many of those who voted both for and against the bonds as well as the thousands who did not vote would appreciate some concrete information concerning this matter.

"Because of this situation the Water Users' association, both on behalf of its members and the citizens of the county as a whole respectfully requests that your honorable body issue a statement giving all the economic and engineering reasons why an Orange county flood control dam cannot or should not be constructed at the upper Prado site."

YOUNG COMMUTES YOUTH'S SENTENCE

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(UP)—The sentence of Allen Ellis, Fresno youth, convicted of murder and scheduled to die on the gallows at San Quentin Friday, was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor C. C. Young today.

Ellis must serve without parole, the announcement, made through the local office of the governor, said.

The dispute over the age of Ellis was the basis for the governor's decision.

Ellis' attorneys throughout have contended that at the time of the slaying Ellis was under 18 and therefore not subject to the supreme penalty.

The youth was found guilty of the murder of Francis O. Weisert, Fresno merchant.

BROKEN OIL LINE ENDS S. F. FLIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—A balky motor, first apparent immediately after refueling early last night, had ended today the San Francisco attempt to wrest from Culver City flyers the world refueling flight.

Photographer Bartlett Stephens and Fred McKinley brought their Sierra monoplane to earth at 10:03 p. m., after a three-hour battle with the motor, functioning imperfectly because of a broken oil line.

Another attempt is planned by the pilots and Flight Manager James Warner of Southern Cross fame as soon as repairs to the motor can be completed.

The premier's physicians forced him to remain in bed just as he seemed to be on the eve of one of the greatest of his many victories in a long and colorful political career. McKay, according to Constable Homer Calk, of Geyserville, a witness, was struck by Coyle's car while walking along the highway near Geyserville. Coyle was arrested by Deputy Sheriff W. A. Shulte 25 miles from the scene of the accident after Calk telephoned the sheriff's office.

NEW HOTEL IS BEING PLANNED FOR SANTA ANA

This City to Be Included In Project Involving Many Millions

POSSIBILITY that Santa Ana will be included in a new string of hotels stretching from San Diego to Vancouver, B. C., the cost of which will run into millions of dollars, was revealed here today by Fay Smalley, manager of the Alevandria hotel in Los Angeles. Smalley was in Santa Ana today as a guest of William J. Murphy, whom he had escorted to this city from Los Angeles, following his reception there as national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war.

Smalley, outlining the project, stated that negotiations had been under way for some time looking toward the location of one of the hotels in the string in Santa Ana. The chain is planned by the Pacific Coast Hotels, Inc., he said.

Pointing to the many advantages of Santa Ana as a hotel city, Smalley said that there was a big field here for development of the automobile tourist trade between Los Angeles and San Diego. The hotel in this city would be designed to cater to this class of tourists, he said. He pointed out that tentative plans showed that a hostelry of approximately 170 rooms would be needed to launch such a project.

Hundreds of cars carrying tourists pass through Santa Ana daily, Smalley pointed out, and expressed the belief that a hotel designed to accommodate this class of tourists could be very successful here. Being on the state highway leading to San Diego, such a hotel in Santa Ana would have an excellent chance of attracting many tourists who now pass directly through the city. The stimulus to trade that such a development would bring was stressed by Smalley.

In order to attract such business a hotel on Main street should have a huge Ueon sign, perhaps 100 feet in length, Smalley stated. Everything of this nature to attract such business should be part of such a project, he pointed out.

Engineers To Select Route In 6 Months

Santa Ana Man Says Great Progress Already Has Been Accomplished

PREDICTION was made today by Col. S. H. Finley, secretary of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water District, member of the financial committee and committee for selection of the board of consulting engineers of the same body, that the general route of gigantic Colorado River aqueduct will have been selected by a board of consulting engineers within the next six months and that actual construction work on this project will be launched within a year.

Finley declared that the Metropolitan Water District was in possession of a mass of important data pertaining to the project that had been obtained as the result of nearly six years of constant field survey work carried on by engineers of the Los Angeles department of water and power.

"Such progress has been already made in accumulating and compiling this data that it is expected Chief Engineer Frank E. Weymouth and his staff of assistants, within perhaps 90 days, will be in a position to submit the entire matter to a board of consulting engineers," Col. Finley asserted. The other directors selected at the last meeting of the board, to act with Col. Finley as a committee to recommend the names of internationally recognized engineers to serve on the consulting board, are Dr. John R. Haynes and Franklin Thomas.

"Four principal routes of the aqueduct are now under consideration," the Santa Ana engineer stated. "One of these would provide for a gravity flow. The other three require the lifting of water. Whether the route finally picked is a gravity or pump route will depend entirely upon the respective installation and maintenance costs of the various routes and their relative engineering feasibility."

He pointed out the fact that legal or financial difficulties seemed to be the only possibilities that would hinder the start of actual construction within a year.

VISITS PARENTS IN S. A.

Lt. Col. Harry H. Blee, chief of the division of airports and aeronautic information of the United States Department of Commerce, is visiting his parents here while on a tour of the airports of the United States. Lieutenant Blee is a native son of California and a graduate of Santa Ana High school.

LT. COL. HARRY BLEE, CHIEF OF U. S. DIVISION OF AIRPORTS IS VISITOR IN SANTA ANA TODAY

Lt. COL. HARRY H. BLEE, chief of the division of airports and aeronautic information of the United States Department of Commerce, who is in California for the purpose of a series of conferences and routine business for his department in connection with the development of airports and maintaining standards set by the department, is a guest in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Blee, 311 Orange avenue.

Colonel Blee, who was born in Santa Ana, and graduated from the Santa Ana high school, stopped at Boise, Idaho, on his way to California to address the Western States Air Commerce and Airways conference, which was held in the Idaho city the early part of last week, on "The Development of Commercial Aeronautics in the United States." The department head arrived in Santa Ana last Saturday, and has been spending his time between conferences in Los Angeles visiting his family and friends here.

"There is a universal increase of interest in aviation," Colonel Blee said today in an exclusive interview with the Register. "It would be hard to say where there is the most development along this line. I travel all over the United States and find that cities everywhere are developing ports and creating higher standards for commercial service. The increase in interest in California is very marked, but it would be impossible for me to say that it leads in view of the great development being made along the same lines all over the nation."

"My conferences in Los Angeles are for the purpose of developing standards, encouraging the establishment of airports and advising concerning commercial aviation in general. I plan to leave for San Francisco tomorrow on my way back to Washington," Colonel Blee said.

After graduating from the Santa Ana high school Colonel Blee attended Occidental college, and later Stanford university. He graduated from Stanford and taught there for a while after obtaining his M. E. degree in 1910. He then became connected with the state engineering staff and was in charge of all scenic roads in California when the United States entered the World war in 1917. He immediately enlisted and was assigned to the Airplane Engineering Division of the United States Army.

STATE PURCHASING AGENT APPOINTED

SACRAMENTO, July 17.—(UP)—Fred L. Misphey, chief deputy state purchasing agent, was named today as acting purchasing agent, succeeding W. G. McMillan, who died last week.

A. R. Heron, state director of finance, who made the appointment, said that the position may be filled permanently either by competitive civil service examination or by selection of one of the three deputy purchasing agents. He did not state which method he would use.

SIBERIA IS CUT OFF BY CHINA'S ACT

Oriental Apparently Fear Soviet Use of Road to Send Men to Manchuria

NOTE IS RECEIVED

Organized Protests Against Seizure In Russia Continues Unabated Today

TOKIO, July 17.—(UP)—Reports here today said the Chinese have cut the railroad, both at Manchuli and at Pogranitchaya, severing all rail connections and communications between Manchuria and Siberia. The Chinese apparently feared the Soviets might use the lines to invade Manchuria.

MOSCOW, July 17.—(UP)—The organized protests against China's seizure of the Chinese Eastern railway in Manchuria continued unabated throughout the soviet union today in spite of Nanjing's conciliatory response to Russia's three-day ultimatum demanding an immediate conference for the settlement of the dispute.

As the government did not receive the Chinese reply until shortly before last midnight the masses of workers learned of its receipt only this morning, when they went to their factories and offices.

They learned of it with a great sense of relief from the newspapers which displayed the news prominently. The newspapers published all the details, but refrained from commenting on the new development of the situation.

The relief felt was prompted principally by the fact that while the Chinese note was obviously evasive and more or less obscure, it proved at least that China was not ignoring the situation and was apparently ready for some sort of negotiations.

The press today recorded with especial pride the participation of thousands of Chinese residents of Vladivostok and of other cities in the far east in recent anti-Mukden and anti-Nanking demonstrations.

Asiatic students at the communist universities made a vigorous pledge to support the "soviet union fatherland and the toiling masses of the whole world."

Bank In Florida With $3,000,000 Deposits Closed

TAMPA, Fla., July 17.—(UP)—The Citizens Bank & Trust company, Tampa and its nine branches failed to open for business today. The bank had a capital of $1,000,000 and deposits of more than $2,000,000. Four of the branches were located in Tampa and the remaining at Plant City, Bradenton, Sarasota, Fort Meade and Dade City. The Citizens Bank & Trust company, was a state institution.

The bank's board of directors issued a statement today attributing the closing partly to "unwise gossip" resulting from the presence of the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida.

SUPPOSED VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE BELIEVED SUICIDE

Investigations today were directed toward suicide as a possible explanation of the death of Harley E. Zinn, 37, of Corona, who died suddenly on Monday, supposedly of heart trouble, following the announcement that his testimony as an alibi witness in a liquor trial here would be investigated with a view to determining whether it offered possible grounds for a charge of perjury.

With a bottle containing poison having been discovered in Zinn's home following his death and with a letter, thought to have some bearing on his decease, in the hands of officials, an inquest into his sudden demise is scheduled to take place tomorrow under the direction of the coroner in Riverside county.

Zinn's stomach will be examined in order to discover whether it contains poison, it was learned today.

W. J. MURPHY RETURNS FROM DETROIT MEET

and commander of the Orange county chapter of Disabled Veterans, to secure payment of benefits alleged to be due on Fisher's $10,000 war risk insurance policy. Although Fisher had stopped payments on the policy before his death, Murphy takes the position that his total disability entitled him to the benefits of the policy despite this fact.

While in Washington the new national commander conferred with Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the U. S. Veterans' bureau, and was assured of the fullhearted cooperation of this official in his administration. Major General Hines guaranteed the passage of the Rogers bill, which calls for a new $2,000,000 general hospital for veterans in San Francisco, with 500 beds, Murphy stated. Included in Murphy's program also is an addition to the veterans' hospital in San Fernando, where tuberculosis patients are hospitalized.

At an all-day conference in Boston with Gen. Clarence E. Edwards, administrator and trustee of the Lotta Crabtree estate, Murphy was assured that California will get $30,000 a year for the next 20 years from the estate for its disabled veterans. The estate now is valued at about $2,000,000 and the will gave California, Massachusetts and New York a bequest between them of $100,000 annually.

Guest of Belgrano

Yesterday Murphy was a luncheon guest of State Legion Com. Frank Belgrano, in the Palace hotel, in San Francisco. He came to Los Angeles on the Lark, arriving in that city at 9:30 a. m.

Murphy will be in Santa Ana until the opening of the state convention of the California Disabled American Veterans, in San Diego, in the middle of August, where he will be a distinguished guest. Following that convocation he will leave for St. Paul, Minn., where he will be an honored guest at the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. From St. Paul he will go to Washington, where he will remain on disabled veterans' business until the opening of the national convention of the American Legion, in Louisville, Ky., where he will be the guest of honor. While in the east, following his election at the Detroit convention, Murphy visited disabled veterans' hospitals in Massachusetts, New York and Illinois. Although the new commander has not announced the formulation Reception in L. A.

At the Alexandria hotel Murphy was received by Senator Charles B. Hamilton, of the Alexandria hotel, and the group of Legion post commanders, which included District Attorney Byron Fitts and Com. John R. Quinn.

On his arrival here Murphy announced that, while in Washington, he personally filed suit against the United States government on behalf of the estate of the late Jack Fisher. Register cartoonist States Air Corps and stationed at Dayton. He is an officer in the U. S. Reserve.

When asked if he were in a position to comment on the proposed dirigible base in California, he stated that that project was purely a Navy matter and that he was not at all familiar with it and had not even seen the places Orange county was offering as sites for the approval of the investigating board, scheduled to arrive here next week.

Colonel Blee declared that the airplane has emerged from the experimental stage and is now taking its place in the industrial and commercial life of the nation. "Before we realize it," he asserted, "swift aerial carriers will be transporting thousands of passengers and bearing cargoes of mail and merchandise to every corner of the land with a degree of safety and reliability rivaling the best of our surface carriers, and far outstripping them in the all important matter of speed."

"Department of Commerce records show that, for the year 1928, airplanes in the United States engaged in private flying and aerial service operations flew more than 60,000,000 miles. At present 46 air transport companies of the United States are flying 75,000 miles per day. About 25,000 miles of our daily scheduled operation are being flown during the hours of night.

"The United States rapidly is taking a position of world leadership in the field of air transportation. The year 1929 is now ushering in the results of the years of pioneering and painstaking effort.

"The policy of the Department towards the development of commercial aeronautics is to assist in creating a combination of four elements: (1) airworthy aircraft, adequately equipped and efficiently maintained, (2) flown by competent pilots over (3) suitably equipped airways (4) in conformity with standard air traffic rules."

policy on the war debts, and partly by the current heat wave in Paris. The doctors promised the premier that if he remained quietly in bed today he might be able to resume his place in the chamber tomorrow to continue the debate on the ratification. The heat unquestionably added to the nervous strain under which the premier has been laboring and aided in weakening his general condition.

Foreign Minister Aristide Briand took the premier's place in the chamber to lead the defense of the government's position against the assaults of the opposition when the debate was resumed today. The first assault of the day failed as did two others yesterday when Leon Blum, Socialist leader, moved for an adjournment of the debate.

of a definite program as national executive of the organization, he said today that he would launch at once an intensive membership drive throughout the nation.

He also will insist that contract hospitals, such as the one in Sawtelle, be taken over by the government. Under the present system it costs $4.40 per day for taking care of each veteran, but under government operation the cost would be reduced to $3, Murphy said, pointing out the better service to the men would be possible. Approximately 3500 men would be affected by this change, he said.

JACOBS WILL HEAD SLATE IN POST ELECTION

The monthly dinner meeting of Santa Ana post of the American Legion, held in the Legion hall last night, honored members of Company F of the National Guard, who were guests.

Following dinner, plans for the state convention, in San Diego, next month, were discussed and officers for the coming election nominated by post members. The slate that will be offered is headed by Otto Jacobs, for commander; Hunter Leach, first vice commander; Gene Douglas and Lester Steinkopf, second vice commander.

Final plans for the departure of Company F for camp were announced by Capt. Donald Winans at the dinner. Practice of puppet pitching will be conducted on the courthouse lawn at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and dinner will be served in the Legion hall at 6:30 that evening, at which time Legion men, city officials, and the legion bugle and drum corps members will be guests of the company. The company will be escorted to the train from the armory at 8:30 Saturday night by the drum corps.

White shirts and trousers, orange hats and ties and black shoes and socks were decided on as the uniform to be worn at the Legion convention.

Those attending the affair last night derived much merriment from the criticism of various members and officials featuring "knockers' night." Entertainment was provided by Jack Gledhill's orchestra, which played during the dinner. Other entertainment features were several solos by Miss Mary Ford and readings by Miss Alice Cheatham.

Jug Walters last night was awarded a popular model touring car in good running order, donated by Wilbur Getty, of the Getty Motor company.

The dinner was served by members of the legion auxiliary.

WASHINGTON BUZZES

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Federal prohibition officials expressed themselves today as agreeing in substance with the plea of Chairman George W. Wickersham of the national law enforcement commission for greater responsibility by the states in enforcement of dry laws.

Modification of the Volstead act to define functions of the state and Federal governments, however, was held unnecessary in some quarters. Concurrent enforcement provisions of the national prohibition laws were said by Assistant Treasury Secretary Seymour Lowman to contain ample authority for state action.

It has long been the view of the treasury, Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran pointed out, that states should play a more important role in enforcement of the prohibition law. He said a clarification of the functions of the state and federal governments was needed, but that this did not necessarily call for any change in existing laws.

For some time it had been the treasury policy to concentrate on prevention of large scale liquor smuggling, interstate conspiracies to transport liquor, and the larger commercial bootlegging operations. Detection of minor bootleggers and all police court cases have been left in the hands of state and municipal authorities except where a definite complaint has been made to federal officials in various districts.

While the treasury heartily approves anything looking toward a greater measure of co-operation in prohibition enforcement from the states, it was pointed out there is no way by which the federal government could require the states to do more than they are doing voluntarily.

The Wickersham letter was the chief topic of conversation today at the capitol.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Evidently there are some experiences which cannot be avoided in life although we are terribly put-to-it because we are not permitted to choose the hour when we shall endure them.

Goethe tells us that religion bestows power to face the inevitable.

Life is not fatalism, but common sense. It means that it is your faith in God and in His ability and will to bring good out of every trying experience that opens your heart and soul to receive the strength He yearns to bestow. In communion with Him you shall grow fit for Paradise with your beloved.

THINKS CHANGE NECESSARY IN FEDERAL LAWS

District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., pointing out that he is heartily in accord with the movement to curtail or prohibit sale of wine tonics in Orange county if it can be done legally, outlined today his reaction to certain legal aspects of the situation as it has developed in this section.

Although he believes in the curtailment or prohibition of the sale of such beverages, West stated that he believed the final and only satisfactory solution of the problem could be reached only through an appeal to Washington for a change in federal rulings on the matter. We all should get together to seek such a solution, West said.

In keeping with his accord with the desire for a curb of the wine tonic sale here, West yesterday submitted to the board of supervisors an ordinance designed to restrict such sales. The ordinance is patterned after one adopted in Long Beach. The board did not take final action in the matter, although it evinced an interest in the movement in Santa Ana, where an ordinance designed to limit sale of wine tonics to drug stores is being considered.

Questions Local Methods

In an unofficial statement, following the board session, West said that he could not see how the problem could be solved without action being taken in Washington. He said he questioned whether local moves in regard to the situation were being carried on along the right trail.

He agrees with City Attorney C. D. Swanner that, to be legally effective, an ordinance must prohibit sale of all commodities in a given class. Referring to the possibility that a law restricting the sale of wine tonics to drug stores might be interpreted by its opponents as class legislation, West pointed out that difficulties might arise if one constitutional provision were violated in order to enforce another.

Under the treasury department in Washington the department of pharmacy exists and among its duties is the passing on and approving or disapproving of all medicines, West explained. All wine tonics legally sold under federal laws are registered and this fact appears on the bottles, he pointed out. If a change can be effected in the law under which this body works a more effective solution may be arrived at than by local movements, West declared.

Local option, he pointed out, had been very useful in the days before national prohibition went into effect, but at present, when the liquor situation is governed by national law, it is likely that efforts directed toward curbing wine tonic sale through that agency will be most effective.

Extract Cases Numerous

He pointed out that, during the time he has been in office, there have been more cases here involving lemon extract and canned heat than those in which wine tonic figured. He has been informed, however, that in other localities the situation is different.

Only about two per cent of the liquor cases handled by this office have concerned wine tonics, West said, although he pointed out that he believes there is a large amount of this beverage used.

New Complaint Is Filed After Case Dismissal

Dismissal of a case against the Western Cordage company, Carl F. Burns and Claude Corbin, in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, yesterday, was followed today by the filing of a new complaint. They are represented by Charles Swanner and Roland Thompson while the various defendants are represented by John Martell, O. A. Jacobs, F. C. Drumm, J. B. Tucker and Morris Cain.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR TRUCK IN CANYON CRASH

State police today continued to search for a truck believed responsible for the accident in the Santa Ana canyon, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning in which G. A. Little, of Riverside, lost his life.

In the meantime, a coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body in the Seale Undertaking parlors, in Fullerton, yesterday afternoon returned a verdict that Little met death as the result of a skull fracture caused when the car in which he was riding jumped over an embankment and fell 100 feet.

Little was riding with Lt. J. W. Thompson, of March field, an aviator, at the time of the crash. Thompson, who suffered slight injuries, was the chief witness at the inquest but was unable to throw any light on the identity of the truck which is said to have crowded the Little machine from the road.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

S. A. FIRM GIVEN SCHOOL CONTRACT

PLACENTIA, July 17.—At a meeting to the board of trustees of the Placentia union grammar school last evening, J. W. Markel and Son, Santa Ana, bidding $9600, were given a contract for building a two-room addition to the north side of the main building of the Bradford street school. The contract calls for construction of reinforced concrete. Nine bids were entered.

Other business to come before the meeting was the consideration of leasing the two acres in the Commonwealth district to the Superior Oil company for drilling purposes. The land is not used for school purposes at present, but it was decided not to lease the land. The offer made by the oil company was the usual one of $10 per acre per month.

All journeymen painters are invited to attend an open meeting of Local 315 to be held on Wednesday July 17 at 306 1-2 East Fourth.

DIGGEST CROWD OF WEEK HEARS NAZARENE HEAD

Reports from the Nazarene camp meeting today disclosed the fact that the enthusiasm of the gathering is not lagging. Despite the hot weather, the largest crowd of the week-day programs assembled in the tabernacle tent, in the Walnut Grove Auto camp, to hear the closing address of Dr. J. B. Chapman last night. He was to leave today for Portland, Ore., where he will speak at the 16-day encampment of the Columbia river district.

Taking as his subject "The Ways and Works of King Solomon," the general superintendent and former editor used the following words of the wise man as a text, "Now let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter, fear God and keep His commandments for this is the whole duty of man."

The address was a summary of the writings of the wise king, including Proverbs and the Songs of Solomon. For nearly an hour the general superintendent held his audience with spicy, short sentences and comments on the words of the wise King Solomon.

Today the senior general superintendent of the Nazarene denomination, Dr. Reynolds, and his wife are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at the headquarters of the denomination in Kansas City and the camp meeting wired them congratulations on this occasion and a purse of $20 in gold will follow. Mrs. Reynolds was for many years the Sunday school teacher of ex-President Calvin Coolidge and since those days Mr. Coolidge has not failed to write his former teacher twice a year a letter of encouragement and inspiration.

Ambassador Dawes announces he will serve no liquor in the American Embassy in London. Charles has been in need of just such a place where he could be alone and have rest and quiet.

Recent developments whereby liquor importation privileges have been modified simply mean that some of the foreign embassies in Washington will change from open buffets to private speak-softies.

The city attorney, H. L. Dearing, and the city clerk, Paul Clark, were instructed to find what insurance was needed in order that the city comply with the law regarding liability insurance which goes into effect August 1. ### ROAD PROJECT DISCUSSED BY CITY COUNCIL

FULLERTON, July 17.—That the city of Fullerton should take no action on the petition asking condemnation of the road leading to the Loma Vista cemetery from the Brea road was the subject of a communication from the Union Oil company which was discussed last night at the meeting of the Fullerton city council. The city was asked to take over this roadway by the Loma Vista Cemetery association, which has an easement to the right-of-way granted by the Union Oil company and property owners. The Union Oil company contended that since the Loma Vista Cemetery association had agreed to pay all the expenses of the upkeep of the road, the city ought not to take over the road as the Union Oil company and property owners along the road will be obliged to help bear the expense of the road.

The Loma Vista Cemetery association officials on the other hand are of the opinion that since the cemetery was a public necessity and the only endowed cemetery in northern Orange county, and that since much of the traffic on the road was from other sources than from the Loma Vista Cemetery association, the city would be able to maintain the road more easily than could they. The matter was held for further investigation.

A representative of the Jorgensen Exterminating company appeared before the city council and requested the moral support of the city in that company's rodent control campaign in this district. After deliberation the matter was referred to the county health department by the councilmen.

The matter of changing the city ordinance regarding the building code to cover housemovers' licenses was read and the first reading approved.

Because many old ordinances concerning police enforcement conflict with present ordinances, City Attorney Launer prepared a new list of codes eliminating unnecessary details. The matter was referred to the police committee.

The city engineer presented plans and specifications for the completing of the extension of North Harvard avenue and was instructed to go ahead with necessary grading and to advertise for bids for the curb on the hill.

A permit to install a service station for private purposes was granted J. E. Steen.

'WHAT NEXT IN MISSIONS' TOPIC

COSTA MESA, July 17.—The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society met in the social hall of the Community church yesterday. Girls of the junior department of the Daily Vacation Bible school gave a missionary play. Elma Bayard and Jeanette Kesel played piano solos.

"What Next in Home Missions," the year's study book, was in charge of Mrs. Donald Gibson. The third chapter was outlined.

Mrs. E. L. Bennett, president, presided during the business session. An excellent report was given of the year's work in home missions. The year's apportionment was more than met. All those not paid up are urged to do so before September 1. All mite boxes should be in.

Brainerd, Minn.—"I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and I have got great results from its tonic action at the Change of Life. Before I took it I was nervous and at times I was too weak to do my housework. I was too weak to do my housework and do chores outside also. I must say that Lydia E. ### Beach Votes Central Ave. Bond Issue

NEWPORT BEACH, July 17.—The result of the bond election for the improvement of Central avenue was $1 for and 27 against the project carrying by three votes, a two-thirds majority being required.

The previous election on the same plan was carried by a big majority, but some flaw in the wording of a part of the proceedings, invalidated the issue, according to the attorneys, for the bond companies, and it was found necessary to do the work over again.

The decorations have been made possible through the co-operation of the city trustees, who are in this way aiding in staging the firemen's convention here.

PASTOR TELLS MESA LIONS OF JOURNEY NORTH

COSTA MESA, July 17.—The Rev. L. R. Bayard, was the speaker at the Lions' luncheon, held Tuesday in the clubhouse. He gave a detailed description of his trip to the redwoods of Santa Cruz. Many specimens of the rock formations near the geysers were shown. The California missions visited along the route north were described.

Stuart H. Lucas, of Corona Del Mar, read a satire on the dam proposition.

Dr. C. G. Huston reported on the county council meeting held in Santa Ana, July 15, giving an outline of a speech delivered by Sam Carpenter, governor of district 4.

Fenton Chaplin reported on an application for membership of G. Illingworth. C. B. Diehl brought William Patterson as honor guest, and also reported his application for membership.

The Rev. L. R. Bayard will choose the honor guest for next week.

Carson Smith, C. S. Crookshank, and Jack Wallace, of Santa Ana, Stuart Lucas of Corona Del Mar, William Patterson and Grant Illingworth, of Costa Mesa, were visitors.

FULLERTON IN PREPARATIONS FOR FIRE MEET

FULLERTON, July 17.—The Fullerton streets will be decorated for the state convention of the California Firemen's association, which will be held here August 7, 8 and 9. It was learned today, when contracts for the decorating were let through the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce to the Jones Decorating company, Los Angeles. The decorations will be up by August 3 and will remain until immediately after the convention.

The plans for the decorations call for 32 strings of flags across Spadra road and on West Wilshire to the fire hall. In addition, lamp posts will be dressed with special flags. There will be 72 posts decorated.

The decorations have been made possible through the co-operation of the city trustees, who are in this way aiding in staging the firemen's convention here.

'DOMINION OF DEATH' SUBJECT FOR CLASS

COSTA MESA, July 17.—The Monday afternoon Bible study class met in the R. Viele home on Fairview avenue, with 24 present. The Rev. R. L. Spicer, of Los Angeles, was in charge of the topic, "The Dominion of Death."

Those present were: The Rev. R. L. Spicer and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas, of Los Angeles; Mrs. W. B. Stoughton and son, of Ukiah, Calif.; Mrs. Nichols, of Ohio; Mrs. E. Pickering, Mrs. Fred Watts, Mrs. D. Alleman, Mrs. L. R. Bayard, Mrs. W. Rountree, Jesse Viele, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Algers, and Mrs. E. Chaplin, of Corona Del Mar; Mrs. W. W. Caruthers, Mrs. C. C. Rittenhouse, Mrs. W. Kessel, Mrs. K. Uery, Mrs. E. Scovel, Mrs. Wm. McIntee, and the hostess.

PERMIT ISSUED

ANAHEIM, July 17.—A permit was issued yesterday to Robert Maas to build an eight-room home at 118 Ellsworth street at a cost of $6,000.

Photos Of Orange Show Desired By Man In Colorado

ANAHEIM, July 17.—Among the requests received for post cards showing views of the recent California Valencia Orange show was one which arrived yesterday from the Fassett Department store of Montevista, Colo. The owner of the store wrote George W. Reid, secretary of the show, that he had attended the show and that he desired pictures of the Pomona exhibit.

CONDITIONS IN CHICAGO CITED IN C. OF C. TALK

PLACENTIA, July 17.—An address on Chicago politics was given before the Placentia Chamber of Commerce yesterday by W. F. Williams, of Chicago.

Williams, who spoke at the Placentia chamber last year, was introduced by Dr. Yerke. The deplorable condition of the city of Chicago was the subject of his address. The public schools of the city, with a deficit of $23,000,000, which no bank will underwrite, may not be able to open in the fall, he said. Municipal salaries are paid out of borrowed money. Business enterprises bringing in $130,000,000 have been moved from the city because of racketeering, he asserted.

The sanitary board of Chicago charged $1,000,000 for a three-mile bridge path and $1000 each for ornamental light posts for the city. Williams was an eye witness to the La Salle street shooting by three members of the George Moran gang. In his opinion, one reason for the existence of this kind of thing is that not enough attention is paid to it by responsible people, and such a thing as spirit in a city of this size seems to be an impossibility.

A short discussion of the water conservation program was entered into by H. H. Hale, Louis Jacobsen and Ralph McFadden. Jacobsen, who opposed the bond issue, stated that he was not in favor of the uper site, but thought that the money should be concentrated on one dam instead of several. Ralph McFadden said that "to all appearances there are more expert engineers working with picks and shovels in this country than there are in the profession."

30 WESTMINSTER CHICKENS STOLEN

WESTMINSTER, July 17.—Chicken thieves made a raid on three poultry pens in Westminster, the first here for some time. There were about 30 chickens taken. The three roosts robbed were those of J. J. and E. C. Hilton and W. E. Treglin, who reside on adjoining lots in the subdivision north of the Cozad store. The thieves left their car on the dirt road across the S. P. railroad tracks, carrying the fowls across lots to it.

RADIO TRADES TO WELCOME LAFOUNT

The combined Radio and Music Trades association of Southern California will meet at the Los Angeles breakfast club Friday morning to welcome Harold A. Lafount, federal radio commissioner from the fifth zone.

KFWB, Warner Brothers station in Hollywood, official breakfast club, will broadcast the celebration. Time 8 to 9:30 a. m. Mr. Lafount, white hope of far-west radio aspirations, will be entertained—it is hoped Mr. Lafount will be entertained—by a program of terrific proportions. KFWB will not only lay all its own ace cards on the table, but is collecting rare specimens of Hollywood's film stars and fauna for the commissioner's kind attention.

KGO FARM PROGRAM TONIGHT'S FEATURE

At the request of the farmers, KGO will offer its farm program at 7 o'clock every Wednesday night, commencing today.

The customary Thursday period for this agricultural feature has been changed finally because it conflicts with several important transcontinental programs of the NBC system. These nation-wide attractions could not be heard by the farmers if KGO did not broadcast them, so the farm program was moved up a day.

Experts in various branches of the federal and state agricultural departments contribute to this radio feature.

RHYTHM ACES ON ABC CHAIN TONIGHT

"Hot fiddle" choruses galore will delight the lover of frothy music when George Stoll and his Rhythm Aces take the air from the San Francisco studios of the American Broadcasting company and over KMTB, at 9:30 Pacific standard time, tonight.

Whenever a new orchestration arrives, if George is not impressed with the particular style of presentation, he gets his pen and ink, adds a note here, blots out a few there, and makes provision for at least one of those original violin choruses that are played in the inimitable Stoll style.

Jack And Ethyl To Pay Visit To Champoe, Oregon

Champoe, in Marion county, Ore., will be visited by the Associated Motor Maes when they broadcast the "Roads to Romance" program tonight between 8 and 8:30 through NBC system stations. The famous locality sometimes is known as the "Plymouth Rock of the Northwest" and is the first city of Oregon to institute self-government in the face of English and religious opposition.

The hardships of the Oregon pioneers of self-government will be dramatized by Jack and Ethyl as they are described colorfully by "Sandy," a descendant of northwestern settlers. A high spot is the memorable meeting at Champoe, in 1843, when the entire community of Oregon men came to express their wishes and ultimately to insure domination of that section by America.

"Roads to Romance" will be heard through stations KHX, Spokane, KOMO, Seattle, KGW, Portland; KGO, Oakland; KPO San Francisco, and KFI, Los Angeles.

BEFORE THE MIKE

COMMERCIAL radio stations, in an effort to escape public criticism of sponsored advertising, are trying divers methods of presenting radio publicity. WJAY, Cleveland, is patterning after German procedure. George Hubbs, manager, appears before the microphone twice daily and presents two short periods made up entirely of advertising, thus eliminating mention of sponsors in regular programs.

Bobbie Roberts, Seattle studios of the chain and directly from the auditorium chamber she was switched on the air as a staff artist. She sings blues with Vic Meyers and his ABC staff orchestra.

"There is every indication that we shall have a good radio summer," says Dr. J. H. Dellinger, chief of the radio section of the U. S. Bureau of Standards. "In the early days of broadcasting, people were inclined to think that it was hardly worth while to listen-in in summer. That is very different now."

says that "DX" is a thing of the past and that national networks are responsible. Let's hope it's true. It would rid us of one pest whose distance list is his only topic of conversation.

Andy Sannella, NBC musician, is lucky. He's able to save himself embarrassment by giving his guitar a few preliminary strums before going into the studio and feel if a string is weak enough to break during the program. If it is he substitutes a new one.

Cooking, budgets, care of the baby and all other branches of home economics are "duck soup" for "Patty Jean," who broadcasts from W H A S, Louisville, every day at 11:30 a. m. central time.

"Patty Jean's" advice is practical and not theoretical, for in private life she is known as Mrs. Vivienne Adams Woolf, which title denotes some experience in satisfying the whims of a mere man.

They say that Arcadie Birkenholz, NBC violinist, would have made a good ball player if his folks hadn't stopped him for fear he would injure his fingers. Gerald Stopp, although a radio dramatic director for NBC and a veteran actor, has never written a play; Sam Lanin's cigar is as expansive as the baton he conducts his NBC orchestra with.

After sponsoring a program all winter over WOR, Newark, an ice cream manufacturer has taken his program off the air with the coming of hot summer weather. Probably figures the heat will take its toll, anyway.

at prices lower than have ever before been possible for a product of this quality.

Dayton Thorobreds, as perhaps you know, have long been recognized as the outstanding quality tires of the industry. They are what might be called, tailor-made, as compared with tires produced in huge volume like hand-me-down suits. They are the product of highly specialized skill, extremely careful workmanship, and only the finest of rubber and fabric.

Naturally—under the old selling method—Daytons had to bring a higher price. They were, first cost only considered, the highest priced tires on earth. Now—by reason of Dayton's new COST PLUS MERCHANDISING PLAN—they sell for no more than ordinary tires and in some cases actually for less.

So there's no longer any reason whatsoever why you should deny yourself the satisfaction and pleasure and safety that comes with riding on the "World's Most Distinguished Tires."

EDNA PAINE OF SANTA ANA whose smart clientele consult her regularly regarding complexion care

"A lather made with Palmolive Soap, massaged gently into the skin, will not only stimulate the complexion in a healthful way, but the emollient effect of the palm and olive oils is most beneficial."

It is strikingly significant that the leading beauty authorities of Europe and America agree on one basic beauty rule, a rule for keeping complexions radiantly lovely. They call it "foundation cleansing."

Not only in this city but in every important beauty center of America and every capital of Europe, today, the leading authorities advise a simple home treatment to keep skin beautiful. It is a treatment involving the twice-a-day use of Palmolive Soap and water.

"Foundation cleansing"

"Foundation cleansing," as advised by the great experts, is simply the daily elimination of pore-clogging dirt and dust, of rouge and make-up. And this is done most effectively, they find, by the bland, creamy lather of Palmolive Soap.

This internationally-used complexion soap, blended of oils of olive and palm, rids the skin of secretions—provides a basis upon which individual beauty treatments are found to be most successful.

In Paris, Mme. Cavalieri, after much study, adopted Palmolive for her clients' use as a home treatment. So, too, did Vincent and Massé—other long-established leaders. In Vienna, Pessl decided upon Palmolive.

In Berlin, Mme. Bock—in London, Bertha Jacobson.

Independently, the great experts of Europe have discovered for themselves the amazing effectiveness of this olive and palm oil complexion soap.

The Palmolive daily massage

Here is the treatment recommended by beauty authorities: massage a smooth lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water into the skin with both hands. Rinse first with warm water, then with cold, until all impurities are washed away. That's all! Yet this simple treatment is an important reason for the increasing number of lovely complexions all over the world.

Consult your own beauty expert. Follow her advice and this very day begin "foundation cleansing" with Palmolive Soap. A clear, radiant complexion will be your reward.

Pessl, of Vienna, represents a house famous for its beauty care during the past 100 years. He advises his Royal and aristocratic patrons to use Palmolive.

CONNIE WAS GOING TO QUIT

Just a few days before his men were booked to start northward from the spring training camp at Ft. Myers, Connie Mack bolted his club and went home to Philadelphia.

The story followed that he was disgusted with the Athletics and that the patient Eddie Collins, who has been hanging around for years, would get his just reward and succeed to the management. Came the season opener and old Connie was on the bench and when the A's went out in front with the most spectacular sport that has been staged since the Cards won their first pennant.

Came then another story. Connie would win another pennant and then retire. He wanted to quit with a flourish.

BUT HE ISN'T

Connie with the burden of all his 66 years recently confided to Bill Dooly of the Philadelphia Record, that he had no intention to retire.

"I don't want to quit baseball until I am at least 70 years of age," he said, "and if I quit then it will be because my health won't stand for any more active work."

HE KNOWS HIS OWN BUSINESS

"There is nothing to that story about winning a pennant and retiring," the veteran leader went on. "I have no reason to quit. Why should I quit? Nobody will have to tell me when it is time for me to turn over the ball club to another manager. I'll know better than anyone else when my time is at hand."

"The only thing that will ever make me arrive at this decision will be my health. If the time comes when I think I will hasten my end to keep on handling the club I will quit."

WASN'T SORE AT HIS CLUB

Old Connie did admit that he came closer to retiring this year than he ever did before. And he explained that he left his ball club in the south not because he was disgusted with it, but because he was ill.

"You know," he told Dooly, "I came closer to quitting this year than I ever have before in my life. That was when I was down south during the training season. I wasn't feeling so well before the ball club arrived. I was still trying to get over an attack of the flu I had during the winter and I was worried about my physical condition."

"I doubted that I would be physically able to go through another season. I wasn't sure that I could stand it and rather than change horses in mid-stream I did think about turning the club over to some one else."

Rivers Gets Unmerited Referee's Decision

LANGFORD WINS ON POINTS BUT LOSES VERDICT

BY RINGSIDER

Joe Rivers was a good lightweight in his day. He was a MIGHTY good lightweight. In fact, he was so good that he once knocked out the champion of the world, Ad Wolgast, in one of the most famous fistic battles in history and lost because he, too, was knocked out and the referee picked up Wolgast and raised his hand aloft.

So Rivers knows boxers and boxing. He knows about all there is to know. But he is not immune to mistakes. He made a mistake, a guilty mistake here last night when he awarded his namesake, Jimmie Rivers, local welterweight, a decision over Young Sam Langford, colored, also a namesake for a great fighter, after 10 rounds of so and so mauling at Henry T. Foust's Orange County Athletic club arena last night.

It is fair enough to encourage local talent and it may be true that in the past Jimmie Rivers has hardly had his fair share of the "breaks" at the southside pavilion, but two wrongs do not make a right and Jimmie did not have a decision coming to him.

Langford Loafing?

Langford, who appeared to be loafing and therefore not entitled to any too much consideration himself, should nevertheless have had the decision. We wonder what Referee Joe Rivers would have said had he been in Langford's place and been deprived of victory by such a verdict. The welter would surely have rung with protest unless Joe has mellowed with the years.

The referee might have been laying the foundation for his decision early in the fight when, between rounds, he came to press row and said: "I thought this fellow Langford could fight better than this."

At any rate, Langford, cleverly evading Jimmie's rushes except in the sixth and seventh when the Fullerton welter did his only effective punching, carried the fight almost as he pleased. He won the first round. He won the fourth, the fifth, the eighth and the ninth and he was no worse than even in the second, third and tenth.

How Joe Rivers ever arrived at such a conviction as one that Jimmie won is beyond us. Certainly he was not helping the game or the club. If he was penalizing Langford for a sometimes lackadaisical attitude he was only reversing himself of a previous and decisive stand on such things for he summarily dismissed from the ring, with a promise of a long suspension, Louis Medina and Luis Echeveste for stalling in the second bout of the night.

Boots Another One

The referee booted another chance in the semi-windup when he gave Joe Ruiz, a good and promising Santa Ana welterweight, a draw with Marty (Kid) Mack, veteran Long Beach miller. Mack forced the fighting in the last three of the six rounds and won them all decisively. The first two were close but Mack had just as much of an edge as Langford and should have received the decision.

Young Peter Jackson knocked out Henry Celeja in the first round of their scheduled four-round feature preliminary.

Echeveste and Medina were unceremoniously ejected from the ring in the first round for refusing to make a contest. Their purse was

Reigh Count To Live In Luxury Now

CHICAGO, July 17.—Through the door of a box stall, Reigh Count looked across the rolling fields of Leona farms today—the fields in which from now on he will be privileged to scamper and prance and loaf and dream.

The king of the American turf was back home to stay. His racing days are over.

A little more than a year ago he was taken out of the stall and started for Louisville, Ky.—to make turf history. He made it. Few horses have written their names more indelibly into racing records.

Reigh Count's work well done from now on his only orders from Mrs. John D. Hertz, his owner, will be "have a good time."

ICEMEN DEFEAT BARRS AS NEW RACE IS BEGUN

A Santa Ana Ice company baseball team that limped painfully through the first half of the City league in a spirited defense of its 1928 championship aroused itself last night and opened the second and last half of the split season by unexpectedly bumping off the Barr Lumber company, 4 to 3, in one of the most exciting games of the Santa Ana night league's season.

It will be recalled that the Barrs beat the Icemen, 21 to 3, when the season began, June 3.

The Lumbermen scored one in the first and one in the second. The Icemen tied the score in their half of the second, picked up a two-run lead in the third and made it stand up through a series of Barr threats in the last four rounds. Plenty of hitting, fielding and run-making opportunities kept the outcome shrouded in doubt until Bob Nelson, the Ice company's moundsman, finally retired Warren Sullivan, his pitching opponent, on a pop fly in the ninth with the tying run ready to come home on any kind of a hit or fielding miscue.

Les Boyle opened the quarrel with a double, went to third on an infield out and scored on a wild pitch, giving the Barrs an advantage to which they added a run in the second when Niskey got a life on a two-base error, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Lindsey's sacrifice fly to center.

The Icemen tied it at 2 to 2 in their half of the same inning. Jerry Heard walked and scored on Roy Heard's double. Blower was safe on a fielder's choice. R. Heard beating the throw to third and he scored on a wild pitch.

Solid base knocks by "Red" Bickford, Lauraine Bowe and Jerry Heard scored two more Ice company runs in the third and the score was 4 to 2.

Thereafter both sides threatened to score in almost every chapter but the Lumbermen could get no more than one, that in the seventh when "Buck" Pippis tripped and scored on Boyle's single, and the conflict ended with the Icemen holding tenaciously to their skinny lead.

The Kinslow Machinists, who lost only once in the first round, meet the El Corral Cowboys in the Bowl tonight. Joe Ochoa will work for the Machinists. The score:

MIRACLES OF SPORTS - - - BY ROBERT EDGREN

CAMPOLLO, HUGE ARGENTINE, IS HIGHLY TOUTED

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

(L. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 17.—According to Jack Johnson, Abe Attell and Johnny Dundee, old timers who ought to know all about it and probably don't, the next heavyweight champion of the world will be exposed to public view tonight.

He is Victorio Campollo, the gay Caballero who goes forth with naked hands and slays his own beef. Victorio's noble skill rears itself 6 feet 6 1/2 inches into the atmosphere, he weighs around 220 pounds and he is supposed to be faster than an old time southerner.

Unless he is very fast, this data simply means that Victorio's 220 pounds will fall from a height of 6 feet 6 1/2 inches. There hasn't been any available specimen like that since Willard withdrew himself from circulation.

Meets De Kuh Tonight

The caballero will meet Arthur De Kuh, another big one, over a distance scheduled for 10 rounds at Ebbets field. It won't go 10 minutes if this pair decides to become at all resolute about it. De Kuh has a great punch and a chin that reaches out and clamors for attention. What Victorio has, I don't know, but it is supposed to be plenty.

They are touting him to half-abate and otherwise discontinue De Kuh in five rounds and, if he does that, Sharkey and Schmeling will be able to hold their championship fight without him. De Kuh is only one of the chumps of course, but it takes better than a chump to knock him nonplussed. Sharkey couldn't do it in 10 rounds just before the gripping encounter with Stribling. So Victorio hasn't chosen a sap for himself tonight.

Of course, if he is as good as they say he is, then this Argentine is better than Firpo and it doesn't make any difference whom he chooses. Neither does it matter much how big he is. The notion came into vogue after Willard's debacle that the man who weighs more than 210 pounds and exceeded two inches over six feet was too big to fight. Godfrey changed all that. I don't know how much fighting he does but one thing I'll guarantee, he isn't too big to win.

They Just Need Speed

Give these big ones speed, as Campollo is said to have, and stake them to a punch in both hands, another of his alleged assets, and there isn't the slightest reason for them to go wrong. Johnson didn't and he looked bigger than a baboon in there.

The latter's approval of Campollo, by the way, may be significant in

Michigan Ball Team To Tour In Japan

ANN ARBOR, July 17.—Combining 13 baseball games with ten days of travel and sightseeing is the program of the University of Michigan baseball team on their tour of Japan this fall.

The first game will be with Meiji university Aug. 31. The itinerary includes three other games with Meiji, two each with Keio and Waseda universities and five with opponents not yet decided upon. The team sails August 13 from San Francisco.

GERMANS NAME TWO TO OPPOSE YANKEES

BERLIN, July 17.—The German Tennis association today announced that Dr. Raniel Prens and Hans Moldenauer will be paired respectively against William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter of the United States in the shingles of the inter-zone Davis cup finals here this week-end.

Prens and Moldenauer also may be paired in the doubles against the American youngsters, Wilmer Allison, Fort Worth, Tex., and John Van Ryn, East Orange, N.J., although the Germans retain the right to enter Dr. Heinrich Klein-schroth and Dr. Heinz Landmann against the American Davis cup doubles team at the last minute if it is deemed desirable. The winner of the inter-zone finals is to meet France in the challenge round for the Davis cup.

AN ILL WIND

Because he ran with a strong wind at his back, Sidney Kieselhorst's recent mark of 23.3 seconds for the 220-yard low hurdles was not allowed. The record, made by Kraenzlein of Penn in 1898, is 23.6.

LONG BEACH IN TIE WITH S. A. FOR RACE LEAD

Santa Ana revelled in its half-game lead in the Orange County Night Baseball league just three days.

Continuing to match victory for victory with the Stars, the Long Beach Aces last night defeated Garden Grove, 6 to 2, and today went back into a tie for first place. The two pace-setters have now won nine games and lost two.

Santa Ana lost to Anaheim and Long Beach, Long Beach to Anaheim and Garden Grove. Howard Morning had a shutout for eight stanzas but weakened a bit in the ninth and the Chilli-peppers marked twice. Hapes hitting an opportune triple. Morning allowed eight hits, the same number as Earl Morrill, but struck out 12 and always dominated the situation with men on base.

This game officially completed the second round of the three round race but both leaders have seven more games to play. Next week's schedule probably will decide the championship as the Stars meet Long Beach at Long Beach Tuesday night and get Anaheim in the Bowl Friday. Santa Ana goes to Garden Grove Friday.

The score: R. H. E. Garden Grove 000 000 002—2 8 2 Long Beach .210 000 30x—6 8 1 Batteries: Garden Grove—Morrill and Hapes; Long Beach—Morning and Farrow.

Klein New Swat King, Near Record

NEW YORK, July 17.—"Chuck" Klein, leading home run hitter of the major leagues, will be shooting at a new record when the Phillies play the Cubs in Philadelphia today. If the slugging outfielder of the Quakers can smack two four-baggers today he will set a new mark of seven home runs in four consecutive games. If he gets one today he will tie the present record of six in four.

Klein, who hit three homers in Monday's double-header, tied the record of five homers in three consecutive games when he connected for round-trippers twice yesterday. He also tied the modern record of three home runs in three consecutive times at bat, as his third homer was made in his last time at bat and yesterday's pair came in his first two appearances at the plate.

Bobby Lowe of the Boston hit four homers in as many consecutive times at bat in 1894. Babe Ruth, George Kelly, Tillie Walker and Elmer Smith hit for the circuit in three consecutive official times at bat.

SHELL OILS IN 3 TO 1 VICTORY OVER RICHFIELD

Starting in right where they left off in the first half, the Shell Oil company yesterday defeated the Richfield Oilers, 3 to 1, and gained a strategic position in the race for the championship of the second half of the Santa Ana Twilight league season.

Earl Jones, who won eight out of nine games in the first swing around the circuit, held the Richfields to two hits. One of them, a double by Miller, scored Landell, who had walked, with the only Richfield run. Lively hit the other safety in the fourth but perished on the pathways.

Miller turned in a very fair game for the losers and enjoyed a 1 to 1 tie for five heats but the Royal Dutchmen won the ball game in the sixth when Dorman singled, advanced on Sands' sacrifice and scored on an error that let Burckett on base from whence he raced home ahead of Sturzeneger's triple.

The Dutchmen made their earlier run in the first. Sands walked and scored on Burckett's triple. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company meets the Dennis Printers today. Smart and Final plays the American Legion Bugle and Drum corps tomorrow.

Oliver expects to leave Santa Ana early in August for Texas where he will attend the school for football coaches to be operated at Southern Methodist university by Knute Rockne and "Pop" Warner.

MONROVIA MAY BE FIRST S. A. FOOTBALL FOE

Santa Ana high school's football team will play one of its league games at night this fall. Coach "Tex" Oliver has virtually agreed to meet Pasadena under artificial illumination in the Pasadena Rose Bowl October 12.

The Pasadena contest is the first Coast Preparatory league struggle on the Saints' 1929 schedule and the Santa Ana coach is willing to co-operate with Pasadena authorities in a thorough and comprehensive test of the practicality of football at night.

Earlier in the year it was Oliver's desire to try night football here but plans were abandoned when it was discovered that the cost of lighting Poly field would be prohibitive.

The Rose Bowl, however, will be used for night football through the entire season, the city of Pasadena and Tournament of Roses officials paying the freight. Cultech, which is located in Pasadena, as well as Pasadena high school and probably Pasadena junior college, expects to play the bulk of its home games at night.

Coach Oliver said he would ask the city for permission to practice in the Sixth and Olive street Bowl here for a week before the Pasadena game in order to accustom his players to playing under lights. The coach believes night football is sure to be a success eventually and he is not adverse to being one of the pioneering coaches. Notre Dame, one of the biggest college teams in the country, will play one game at night this fall.

Santa Ana probably will open its practice season against Monrovia high school, one of the members of the new Foothill league. Monrovia has asked for a non-conference tussle late in September or the first Saturday in October and Oliver has tentatively promised to make the agreement a binding one, probably for the September date.

Oliver expects to leave Santa Ana early in August for Texas where he will attend the school for football coaches to be operated at Southern Methodist university by Knute Rockne and "Pop" Warner.

CHAMP, CHALLENGER LEAVE FOR GOTHAM

NEW YORK, July 17.—With a long siege of training behind them and a world's championship fight ahead, Tommy Loughran, lightweight titleholder, and James J. Braddock, young Jersey City challenger, departed today from quiet training nooks for the scene of their 15-round battle at Yankee stadium tomorrow night.

Pronounced in perfect physical condition by his handlers, Braddock left White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., confident of winning by a knockout before the tenth round.

that it contained a comparison with Firpo, to the latter's detriment. Johnson worked daily with Firpo before the milk fund show of 1922 and almost made a fighter of him. The old champion, therefore, ought to have a pretty good line on Luis.

I hope for the sake of a little excitement around here, that his line on Victorio isn't a gossamer thread. Nobody, as a matter of fact, really knows much about the hombre. He was quite a man as an amateur heavyweight and recently he knocked off Roberto Roberti. Still, if you don't do that, the rules say that the ball isn't in play and you have to go back and start all over again, with an added penalty of stroke and distance.

EDDIE MACK KAYOES
BABY SAL IN FIFTH

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—Eddie Mack of Denver played taps on Baby Sal Sorio at the Olympic last night, flashing into Los Angeles fight circles with a knockout over the Mexican in the fifth round.

Mack, B. S. from St. Regis college, Denver, was just too much of a fighter for the youngster from San Bernardino. From the start, after Mack's lightning left had damaged Sal's nose at the first blow, the Denver boy had his opponent badly buffaloed.

Mack dropped the San Bernardino boy for a count of six in the fourth canto. The bell saved Sorio, but it was just a question of how soon. Mack opened up Sorio beautifully with body punches in the first of the fifth, then dropped him with a shower of hard lefts and rights to the unguarded face. Sal was down for the count and glassy-eyed.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, July 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Elliott entertained as evening dinner guests in their home, Mrs. Elliott's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Ballard, and sons, Donald, Teddy and George Jr. The Ballard family is moving at once from Huntington Beach to Long Beach, where they have a new home. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steck had as a Sunday guest in their home a nephew, E. L. Sisson, and wife, Los Angeles.

Mrs. P. A. McKenzie, who was to leave at once on a two months vacation trip to relatives in Ohio, has given up the trip.

Mrs. Thelma Hollenbeck and Mrs. A. C. Portz, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Hollenbeck's two children were Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Treese, Billy Bates, a cousin of the Treese children, who had been with them since the previous Wednesday returned to Long Beach with the visitors Sunday evening.

O.G. accepts Challenge

Show-down test . . . at Roosevelt Field, New York, reveals the true cigarette preference of Aviators.

The question is often asked: "Does OLD GOLD pick out its strongholds, the places where it outsells its three rivals, when it makes its 'Concealed Name Tests'?" The answer is "No!" OLD GOLD doesn't seek "set-ups" but "show-downs."

As a two-year-old youngster, "O. G." couldn't be expected to match "sales totals" with the three veteran brands, each from 12 to 16 years old. Give a young fellow time! But when it comes to comparing quality . . . that's "O. Gs." meat.

For example, look what happened at Roosevelt Field, New York's greatest airport. Here, "O. Gs." rank third in sales. But when 68 Roosevelt aviators and their mechanics took the "Concealed Name Test," OLD GOLD won, hands down, as the most appealing cigarette! The score, as audited by certified public accountants, was: OLD GOLD 23 first choices . . . Brand "X", 13 . . . Brand "Y", 17 . . . Brand "Z", 15.

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, with his complete orchestra, broadcasts the OLD GOLD hour . . . every Tuesday, from 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, over entire network of Columbia Broadcasting System.

COMMITTEES IN ROTARY CLUB
EXPLAIN DUTIES

A strictly Rotary program was presented to members of that organization under the direction of Fred Rowland at the regular club meeting at St. Ann's Inn, yesterday. Chairmen of a number of the club's committees told of the place the work of their committees had in the activities of the club.

Henry J. Baron, visiting Rotarian from Juarez, Mexico, told the Santa Ana Rotarians many interesting things about Rotary work in Mexico. There are now 41 clubs organized in that country, he said, and five more organizing. The present membership totals some 1200. The fact that there are so many different nationalities in that country causes great stress to be placed on understanding and world peace, the visitor declared.

Earl Matthews, vice president, presided at the meeting yesterday in the absence of Ralph C. Smedley, president, who, with William McKay, secretary, is attending a district meeting of Rotary officials in Del Norte. A chart showing the relations of the various committees and the importance of their work supplemented the talks made by the various committee chairmen. Harvey Stryker told the club of the duties of the aims and objects committee, which is a sort of general committee overseeing and co-ordinating the work of all the others.

Fred Rowland, who is chairman of the club service committee, introduced W. S. Suddaby, chairman of the classification committee and C. V. Davis, chairman of the fellowship committee. Charles Mitchell assisted Davis in telling the club members of the duties of their committee. Reports from other committees are scheduled for future meetings.

Visiting Rotarians were Fred A. Grote, Earl Campbell, A. H. Smith, Willard Smith and Stanley Mansur, of Orange; Bob Brazelton and Howard Holcomb, San Bernardino; John Campbell, Ontario; Charles McCall, Oakland; Guy J. Church, Fullerton; Walter D. James, Cambridge, Neb.; Howard Ripple, Dodge City, Kan.; and Henry J. Baron, Juarez, Mexico.

L. B. BAND PLAYS IN ANAHEIM THURSDAY

ANAHEIM, July 17.—The fourth of a series of concerts at the Anaheim city park will be given tomorrow night by the Long Beach Municipal band, directed by Herbert Clark, who was assistant director with John Philip Sousa for 20 years.

Of special interest to those planning to attend the concert is the announcement that Reginald Taylor, of Anaheim, baritone soloist, will be on the program. At present he is the director of the choir of the First Baptist church, Fullerton.

The concerts, of which there are 11, are sponsored by the city of Anaheim.

DR. E. M. MILLS, FAMOUS AS CLERIC AND AS ROSE EXPERT, OBSERVES HIS 81ST BIRTHDAY

One of Santa Ana's most eminent citizens, a man of national renown, today is celebrating his 81st birthday anniversary and every one wishes Edmund Mead Mills "many happy returns of the day." Dr. Mills, who has resided in Santa Ana for the last three years, has won many honors during his career and the story of his life occupies a goodly space in "Who's Who in America." Chief among his honors are his posts as president emeritus of the American Rose society and the Syracuse Rose society and as general secretary of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

In the inviting garden at Dr. Mills' home at the corner of Edgewood road and Poinsettia street, on the eve of his birthday, a Regester representative found the retired clergyman comfortably ensconced in a rustic rocker under the shelter of a spreading walnut tree, reading, "The Life of Amasa Walker," with his charming wife seated nearby. Both were in the midst of the garden surrounded by the roses that mean so much to Dr. Mills and with which he has done so much to gain national recognition and fame.

"Yes, sir, I'll be 81 Wednesday," he said, "and I'm planning to attend the Kiwanis club luncheon as part of the celebration of the day. I haven't attended very regularly, recently, but I thoroughly enjoy the meetings and am looking forward with great anticipation to meeting them all again."

Holds Many Degrees
The twinkling eyes, fine features and high forehead stamp Dr. Mills as a man of intelligence and scholarly abilities, later borne out by reference to the volume of "Who's Who" revealed that he holds the degrees of A. B., A. M. and D. D. from Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., awarded in 1872, 1875 and 1888, respectively, and Ph. D. and Litt. D., awarded in 1877 and 1918 by Syracuse university, N. Y.

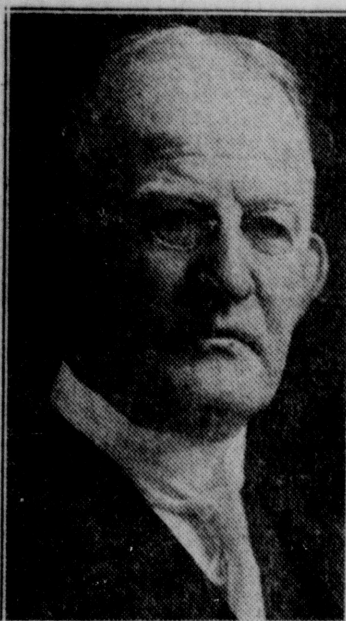

That he also is a man of extensive administrative and business ability is borne out by the statements recorded in the volume recording the lives of the famous that he has held important executive posts in his church and that in a campaign known as the Twentieth Century Thank Offering, he, as secretary, led the workers to complete success, reaching a total of $21,000,000 when the objective was $20,000,000.

When asked about his roses, he declared they were only one of his three hobbies, and remarked in passing that he had some 300 plants that he cared for around his home, comprising some 150 varieties, some of which were very rare. Florists all over the country send him plants for experiment and work and comment, he said, adding that he was the first amateur ever elected president of the American Rose society.

"Swimming is one of my hobbies," he declared. "Why, when I was 66, I swam Oneida lake, near Syracuse, and beat a field of 16 young men who had entered in the race of five and three-quarter miles. It was in the fall and we had several early frosts, and the water was colder than we had anticipated. One by one the younger fellows gave out and were pulled in by their accompanying boats. But I carried more weight than I do now and that helped some."

Only One to Finish Race
"I was the only one who finished, and you can imagine it caused some comment. Wait, a minute," he concluded, and stepped into the house. In a few minutes he returned, proudly bearing a silver loving cup. "That was awarded to me for my swimming abilities," he declared. The inscription on the heavy silver cup reads, "Joseph Leland Cup. Presented to the Rev. E. M. Mills in recognition of swims made by him. 5 1/2 miles Oneida Lake, September 17, 1914—4 1/2 miles Oneida Lake, August 5, 1915. Syracuse Water Sports Club, Y. M. C. A."

"My other hobby is poetry—the collection and enjoyment of it," he explained—"not writing it." But he is listed in "Who's Who" as an author of two volumes of sermons, both published in 1905, one of which was adopted by his church as a standard in a course for ministers.

"We like it here in Santa Ana very, very much," Dr. Mills declared. "The people are very friendly and it has been very pleasant here. We enjoy our church, club and home life to the fullest." Prior to coming to Santa Ana, three years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Mills lived one year in Laguna Beach.

"I was born in Ottawa, Canada, in 1848," the eminent cleric recalled. "My father came to California when I was 3 years old. Mother and the children followed him three years later. We first came to Tomales, Marin county, then moved to Petaluma. My sister, Mrs. Lizzie Goshen, lives there now in the house from which I left for the east in 1868 to enter Wesleyan university. I have another sister, Mrs. John J. Zieman,

CALIFORNIA WOMEN TO STAGE CONTEST

STOCKTON, Calif., July 17.—(UP)—"They may be beautiful, but they can't be dumb," will be the motto of a contest to be held by the California Business and Professional Women's Association in Pasadena September 7.

The most intelligent woman in California is to be chosen at the contest, which was determined upon here by the association. Physical charms will take second place, giving way to mental qualifications, officers of the association said.

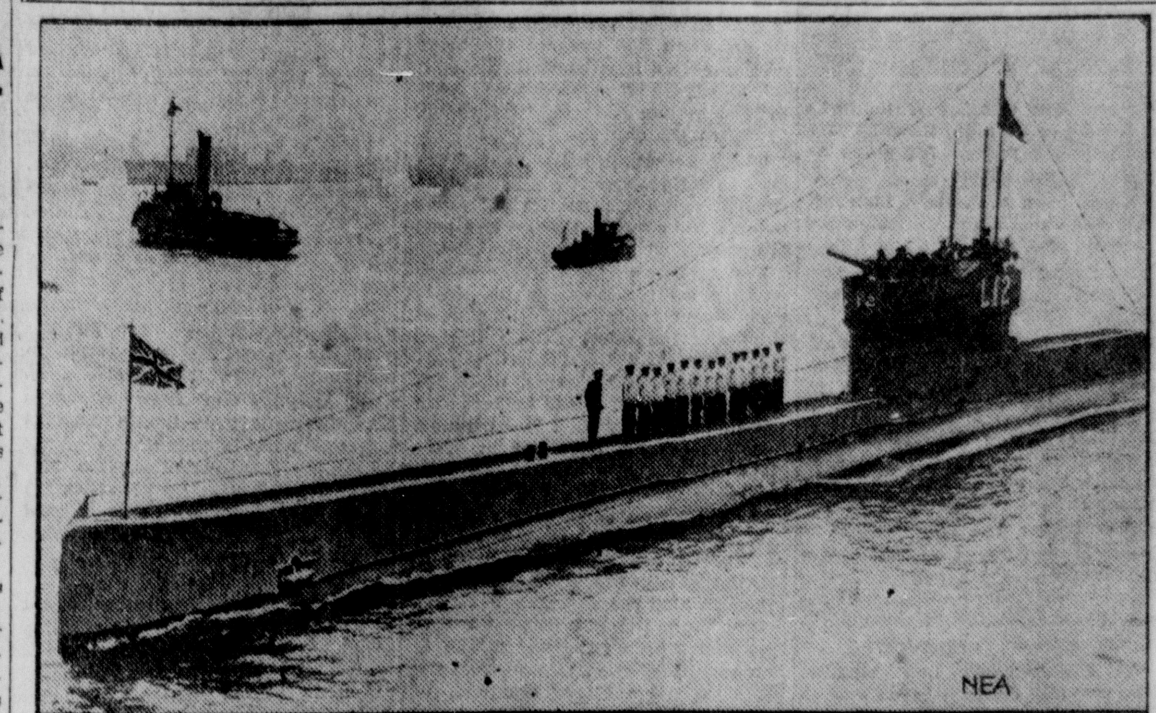

When God made man He made the world significant, but when He made the boy He made it interesting," declared the speaker. "The boy of 12 may be called a fidgeter, but he is just showing his instinct to start something. Scouting tries to utilize this instinct. A boy, like a bicycle, falls when he stops."

The world is becoming more and more impersonal, said the speaker, pointing out that Scouting tried to personalize the life of boys. There is much more opportunity, with increased leisure,

Ordained in 1872
"Who's Who" shows that Dr. Mills was ordained in the Methodist Episcopal church in 1872. He filled pastorates in Elbridge, Lafayette, Syracuse, Wolcott, Penn. Yan, Elmira, Syracuse and Ithaca, New York; was presiding elder of the Elmira district from 1895 to 1899; secretary of the Twentieth Century Thank Offering campaign, 1899-1903; field secretary of the Educational society of the M. E. church, 1907-1908; delegate to the general conference of his church for eight sessions; secretary of his local conference for 12 years; assistant secretary at four sessions of the general conference; secretary of the general conference, 1904-1924; secretary emeritus general conference since 1924; president emeritus of the American Rose society; delegate to the Methodist Ecumenical conference in London in 1901 and Toronto, 1911; 32nd degree Mason, and member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, Mystical Seven and Kiwanis International.

BOYS' NEED OF COMPANIONSHIP
TOLD EXCHANGE

"We live in a ready made world. Play days for boys are expanding and work days are contracting. Boys need a guiding influence in their leisure hours. Recreation has almost left the home and only 15 per cent of the fathers in the nation make chums of their sons. Yet the greatest need of the American boy today is a man friend."

Speaking to the Exchange club in the Santa Ana cafe yesterday, George Walker, Orange county Boy Scout executive, made a plea for more male companionship on behalf of the boys of the community. Boys are hero worshippers, he declared, urging that the men of this city keep in touch with its boys and the influences that surround them.

"When God made man He made the world significant, but when He made the boy He made it interesting," declared the speaker. "The boy of 12 may be called a fidgeter, but he is just showing his instinct to start something. Scouting tries to utilize this instinct. A boy, like a bicycle, falls when he stops."

The world is becoming more and more impersonal, said the speaker, pointing out that Scouting tried to personalize the life of boys. There is much more opportunity, with increased leisure,

75 MEN BATTLE
O'NEILL RANCH
GRASS FLAMES

After burning over nearly 800 acres of wild oats and grass, a fire which broke out on the O'Neill ranch at 1:23 p. m., yesterday, was under control at 9 o'clock last night. A force of 75 men was gathered from San Juan Capistrano and nearby ranches to fight the flames.

The fire swept the territory between Trabuco wash and Canada Gobernadora and was especially difficult to fight as wild oats in this district often grow waist high. The fire fighters were directed by Ed Adkinson, Orange county fire warden, and Ed Nash, forest patrolman.

The fire was reported by R. Godfrey, forest lookout.

Fires Are Hobby
In English Town

BRACKLEY, Eng., July 17.—Fire-fighting is a hobby, and an expensive one, in this tiny village. The Brackley Fire Brigade is purely an honorary and independent band of fire-fighters, for the town council has never given it any money.

Thirty-two years ago they bought their present fire-engine but it is about to fall apart. The Brigade, despite the council's refusal of money for a new engine, is going to buy one itself. The fire-fighters have saved $2,000 from charity fetes, and each of the members is donating approximately $250 out of his own pocket, for the purchase of the new engine. Although this will not pay the entire price of the engine, three of the fire-fighters are underwriting the remainder. The Fire Brigade drills three times a week and receives no pay.

TWO DRAW FINES
IN ANAHEIM COURT

ANAHEIM, July 17.—Matias Elizalde and Robert Maldonado, who with Frank Espinoza were in the car which overturned here Sunday night causing the death of Mrs. Espinoza, were fined $100 when they appeared in the court of Judge Kuchel here yesterday and pleaded guilty to charges of being drunk.

Elizalde paid his fine and Maldonado is being held in jail until he raises the money. Espinoza will appear in court Friday to answer a similar charge. The trials of the other two were set for today but were advanced following an inquest over the body of Mrs. Espinoza.

Assistant Pastor and Wife Complimented At Dinner

James H. Hughes, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, and Mrs. Hughes who are to leave soon for a year's study in Boston, Mass., were honored guests last night at a dinner party held for them by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smart at the Santa Ana Country club.

Guests were seated at one long table arranged in the solarium, and centered with a long basket of gladioluses and delphinium in tones of pink and blue. At intervals down the length of the table were silver candlesticks with tapers in harmonizing colors. Clever little place cards carried out the traveler theme.

Following the dinner an hour was spent in friendly conversation. Those enjoying the affair with Mr. and Mrs. Smart and Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Barr, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zaisler, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bates, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. ## Visitors Are Honored At Pretty Card Party

A pleasantly informal affair of last night with the bridge party given at the attractive J. L. McBride home, 1509 North Main street, by Miss Elma McBride, pretty daughter of the home.

The party was given in honor of Miss Lola Christy of Iowa who is spending the summer with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. DeWolfe of 1107 West Chestnut avenue, and Miss Grace Strong of Pasadena who is also visiting in this city.

Quantities of pink blossoms used in profusion throughout the home added a charming note to the affair and formed the theme for the appointments for the dainty supper that was served at the conclusion of the card games.

In various of her evening's duties, Miss McBride was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. L. McBride.

Those enjoying the pretty affair with the hostess were Miss Lola Christy, Miss Grace Strong, Miss Ruth Owens, Miss Helen Stauffer, Miss Helen Blower, Miss Martha Wallingford and Miss Helen Wiesseman.

After leaving San Jose the party went up the famous Redwood highway to Portland where Dr. Hollingsworth attended the American Medical Association convention.

Kellogg-Allison Wedding Is Event of Week-end In Los Angeles

The many Santa Ana friends of Miss Clara Kellogg of Los Angeles, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kellogg of this city, have been interested in the news of her wedding that took place Saturday in the Los Angeles United Presbyterian church when she became the bride of Samuel Allison of that city.

The dignified service was performed by the Rev. Dr. McCulloch, pastor of the church.

The only music was the Lohengrin Wedding march played by the church organist, as the bridal party entered the church. The service was impressive in its simplicity.

The bride was very lovely in her white satin wedding gown made with fitted bodice and long full skirt and the misty tulle veil that fell in graceful folds from a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white brides roses and lilies of the valley. Her brother, Charles Kellogg, gave her in marriage.

Miss Ruth Stephenson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Stephenson of this city, was maid of honor and she wore green tulle with white forming a long overskirt. Her flower girls were pink roses.

Mrs. John Roberts in yellow tulle and Miss Catherine Allison in lavender were the other attendants. Each carried a lovely bouquet of delphinium and pink rose buds. The silver wreaths that bound their hair were gifts of the bride.

John Roberts served as best man and the ushers were Wayne Bishop and Paul Stephenson.

Little Martha Allison, three year old cousin of the groom, in a brief tulle frock made a charming flower girl.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Here large baskets of gladioluses and fern were used as decorations as they were in the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison are spending their honeymoon at Catalina island where they first met several years ago and on their return to the mainland will make their home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Allison is employed at the Bible Institute in that city where she went following her graduation from the local junior college. She also attended the Santa Ana high school where she was a popular student. Her husband is connected with the S. and W. Wholesale company.

Plans for Beach Party Made By Bible Class

Committees were appointed and preliminary plans made by the Men's Community Bible class, at its weekly business meeting last night, for a beach party and fish bake for members of the class, their families and friends, Tuesday night, July 30.

A group of men, headed by J. S. (Dad) Robinson, amateur fisherman of note, will catch the fish for the meal the day before the event is scheduled so that there will be an ample supply of fresh fish. Those who are to assist Mr. Robinson are Charlie Clem, Sam Duncan and R. S. Briggs.

A committee on arrangements to select the place for the beach party and to arrange other details consists of Sam Duncan, chairman; C. L. Johnson and L. Crasher. Suggestions from members of the class attending the meeting last night were that it be held at Newport or Huntington Beach.

Day at Balboa Enjoyed By Friendly Group

Delightful in its every detail was the luncheon that took place yesterday at the pretty Balboa Beach cottage of Mrs. Vern Bishop even though the affair came as a surprise to her. For a group of her friends decided to spend the day at the beach and her home was chosen for the party.

The party motored to the beach at noon and enjoyed a delicious luncheon after which bridge occupied the hours. Late in the afternoon scores were added and the self-invited guests produced attractive prizes that were awarded Mrs. Marguerite D. Borgmeyer and Mrs. W. E. Winslow.

Those making up the group were Mrs. W. E. Winslow, Miss Rosa Boyd, Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Mrs. Marguerite D. Borgmeyer, Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth, Mrs. Maurice Clark, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Alice Harris of Los Angeles.

CHINESE TEETH ARE MENDED BY RUSSIAN WOMAN DENTIST

By JULIA BLANSHARD
For NEA Service
NEW YORK, July 17.—"Modern women are trying to do too much. Nobody can be successful in a profession or business, run a home in addition and still have time and energy left for friends, reading, music and other necessities of a larger life."

This is the opinion of a distinguished visitor to America, Dr. Antonina Kazimiroff, the only woman dentist in Shanghai, China, a Russian who fled St. Petersburg when the Bolsheviks overthrew the Czar.

"A fine old Chinese servant who speaks Russian gives me my leisure by managing everything in our home," Dr. Kazimiroff said, generously. "Our little Shanghai establishment runs like a Russian menage and is 'home' to many Shanghai Russians who, like myself, suffer nostalgia at times. I have my work and my play and my life is full without keeping house too."

An Unhurried Careerist
Dr. Kazimiroff has the repose of a woman with a well-ordered life. Meticulously groomed and dressed with admirable taste in smart French clothes, she is a charming exponent of a less hurried careerist than most American careerists know. She is in America to do intensive study for a few months on advanced dentistry. From here she will go to London, Berlin and Vienna for similar research work and back next year to her Shanghai clientele.

In fact, there are none of the earmarks of a pioneer careerist about her. Yet, when she left her home in Vladivostok to study medicine in St. Petersburg 20 odd years ago, she was the only girl in her classes and when graduated, the only woman dentist there.

"When we finished school in Vladivostok, the idea of women going into professions was in the air," she explained. "I went with three other girl friends on that long trans-Siberian trip clear across Russia to reach college. We felt such adventures! I deliberately choose dentistry because no women were in the field and I felt I had a better chance to succeed."

Her choice proved excellent. After post-graduate work in Berlin, Dr. Kazimiroff was made Assistant Professor of Dentistry at Petrograd university which position she held, in addition to private practice, when the revolution broke.

"All of my family escaped unhurt," Her face clouded as she recalled those strenuous times 10 years ago. "In fact, we have a regular settlement of Russian relatives and friends in Shanghai today."

Chinese, both men and women, are numbered among Dr. Kazimiroff's patients. She is tremendously interested in Chinese children's teeth because preventive dental work is just beginning in Shanghai. "One of my most interesting patients is a very old, high-caste Chinese lady who never goes out of her home so I must go to her," Dr. Kazimiroff smiled.

"She will never appear in the daytime so I must go at night. It is a social visit, with much etiquette extended and observed before I set up my machinery and begin work on her teeth."

Chinese Women Domestic
"The Chinese are a fascinating people, greatly aroused now with their new social and economic ideas. But I think it will be a very long time before Chinese women will take professions earnestly. They have no scientific background. Literature, philosophy and sociology are giving them intellectual freedom. It will take several generations before they have any idea of real economic freedom."

There is real antipathy in China to women entering professions, according to Dr. Kazimiroff. This was never so in Russia.

"All are 'people' in Russia," she observed. "Being a woman doctor, engineer, or any other professional was never a matter to make a fuss about. I am amazed at how American women in business and professions capitalize the fact of their sex."

A rounded life, with concentrated work and leisure to play, is Dr. Kazimiroff's prescription for success. Her office closes daily for two hours while she has "tiffin." Tennis, motoring, walking and swimming have regular places on her program. Reading several hours daily is there, too.

"A career is to be enjoyed, not just made a success of," she smiles in a quiet way. "I am fascinated by my work, can never read enough about it or see enough new work in my line. But I think I would get very one-sided if I did not have my leisure too."

Dr. Antonina Kazimiroff, below, only woman dentist in Shanghai, China, thinks a career should be no more than a part-time job.

Delightful Shower and Card Party Honor Miss Pearce

The Misses Opha Coulson and Elizabeth Skiles of Orange were charming hostesses last night at a card party and shower given at Miss Coulson's home, 511 West Nineteenth street, honoring Miss Eleanor Pearce.

Miss Pearce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Pearce of Costa Mesa, is to marry Eugene Hald, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hald of this city, some time this summer.

A striking color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in various decorations with great golden dahlia blossoms contrasted with white blossoms of the summer season. The same combination of colors was used in the table appointments when a delicious supper was served at a late hour.

Five hundred was chosen as the diversion and high score was held by Mrs. Roy Tulene of Orange, who was formerly Miss Hazel Crawford of this city, and Miss Doris Bowles of Santa Ana was second. Each received a pretty gift.

As tables were being prepared for the refreshment course, an amusing variation of an Apache dance was offered by the Misses Charlotte Skiles and Opha Stanfield.

Guests included Mrs. Roy Tulene, Mrs. Elwood Coate, Miss Opha Stanfield, Miss Charlotte Skiles of Orange; Miss Eleanor Pearce, Miss Louise Pearce, Miss Ruth Newman, Miss Gladys Newman, Miss Georgia Johnson, Miss Dorothy Van Dine of Costa Mesa; and Mrs. J. T. Coulson, Miss Marie Rash, Miss Helen Dallas, Miss Edith Watts, Miss Grace Middlebrook and Miss Doris Bowles of Santa Ana.

State Board Meeting of P.T. A. Is Attended By Local Folk

Mrs. Neal Beisel, 417 Cypress avenue, president of the fourth district, Orange county, Parent-Teacher associations, and Mrs. J. B. Kelsey of Garden Grove have returned from the meeting of the board of managers of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers held in Santa Cruz last week.

The meeting was attended by 65 members of the board and was held in the sun room of the beach auditorium. One of the important decisions reached by the board was the continuance of the courses in parent-teacher instruction offered by many of the teachers' colleges and several of the universities for the first time last year.

These courses, it was learned from reports, have proved to be an important factor in modern educational systems and the opportunity to enroll in them has been eagerly accepted by principals, teachers, parents and members of the P.T. A. It is expected in time many of the colleges will finance them. Until that time, however, the Congress and Parent-Teachers will provide the funds.

Riverside will probably house the convention in May, although a definite decision was not reached. The September meeting of the board will be held in Los Angeles it was announced.

The board was delightfully entertained during the recreation hours by the state president, Mrs. R. L. Cardiff, with a broadwalk outing, a charming luncheon and other affairs.

GOOSE TAKES TEST

LACKAWANA, N. Y., June 17.—Two women appeared in court here to claim possession of a goose, and it was only by a unique decision that the claim was properly settled.

The goose was taken first to one home and allowed to walk in the yard. Here the goose seemed at a loss. Shortly after it was carried to the second home and left alone. It strayed in a coop in the yard and hopped away merrily. The court decided to award the fowl to the second woman.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit-forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic purges and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.—A.D.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

The current airplane "endurance tests" are a bit puzzling to the average woman psychology. Accustomed as women, especially wives, are to seeing men, especially husbands, perform feats without rhyme or reason, it is no wonder that they find themselves assuming that papa just wants to have a good time doing stunts, rather than swallowing platitudes about "the furtherance of aviation," etc.

You can hardly blame their doubt. Men, especially modern men, do not demand objectives as women do. If it's fun to pull an endurance test or knock a little ball about the sod, what care they for results?

Women do not play with their whole soul. They insist on "doing things." Contrast the club life of men and women. Men use their clubs as pleasant social centers. Women use theirs as centers for serious organization, such as banding together to raise funds for starving something or others.

BON VOYAGE

Speaking of women and their seriousness, American business women, members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, are setting forth one of these famous goodwill tours. They will make speeches before European business women's clubs. One American representative will tell of her herd of 5,000 sheep, another will tell of her transcontinental bus service. There'll even be a successful tombstone engraver.

About 100 women will go on the trip. They will split in two parties; one "doing" northern Europe, the other Southern.

They may not know it, but this trip will make more demands on their dispositions and characters than the most odious demands of business. It's one thing to have a delayed shipment of goods, it's another thing to be all ready to set forth to see the Sistine Madonna and have to wait for 49 other she-males to be collected from bathrooms and bedrooms and stores.

Ask me. I've watched women's parties aboard and thanked my Maker I was traveling less gregariously.

MALE VIEWPOINT

Congressman Somebody or other from a dry state just can't understand why anybody should question his personal conduct in the matter of buying home brew supplies. The home brew supply company gave out the facts in a letter which the congressman had written telling of his results with the firm's wares. This is typical male psychology. The feminine standard demands a practicing of what you preach. The male is very often utterly unable to see that public and private life have any common ground.

MORE CREDIT LOST

But here's an exploded feminine myth. Arm in arm with the credo of "feminine intuition" has always been the twin sister idea that women were such splendid judges of character.

Now comes one Dr. J. P. Guilford of the University of Nebraska who, finishing an experiment tending to have both men and women judge character from pictures of faces given them, says that girls did no better, if as well, in the test as boys.

But surely "us girls" can afford to relinquish some of the old myths which merely sought to "give the little girls a hand" because there was so little they had in the days when the myths were invented.

LEADER TWELVE YEARS

For twelve years Ty Cobb was the batting champion of the American league. Honus Wagner led the National league eight years and Rogers Hornsby seven.

FOODS GOOD FOR CLEAR SKIN

Physician Recommends Three Vegetables to Improve Complexion

It may seem strange to hear a professor of medicine recommend the eating of cabbage as an aid to beauty, as was done in an address in St. Louis recently. He stressed cabbage, carrots and spinach as diet aids to a good skin.

We believe that most medical authorities will agree that the clear and beautiful complexion is one of the results of good health. If that is so, the words of a food scientist have a bearing on the subject of beauty. This authority says that we should eat at least one raw fruit and one raw vegetable each day, also a fruit and a vegetable well cooked. The vitamins and minerals found in fruits and vegetables tone up the whole system. They give many of the healthful elements the body requires in the diet.

A dash of sugar is recommended for adding to the pleasure of eating fruits and vegetables. Nature developed this supreme flavor for relieving our diet of blandness and monotony. Use a dash of sugar on cereals, on berries, in stewed fruits. Remember an old secret: Use a dash of sugar in nearly every vegetable while it is cooking (preferably in little water). This small amount of sugar does not make the vegetables taste sweet. But it is surprising how it develops the natural flavors of the foods. Foods tastefully prepared encourage beautiful eating. The sugar way is the happy way. The Sugar Institute.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

ROUND SHOULDERS AND HOW TO CURE THEM

Round shoulders come from a number of causes. In children an actual chest malformation occurs when there is not enough of the "protective" foods, i. e., milk, leafy vegetables, fruit and sunshine.

The adult who has had a fair start may acquire his round shoulders through "nerves," a tensing of the muscles of chest and back and the desire to fold up like an accordion, through ill health and weakness, through actual sloppiness of posture and last, but not least, through ill-fitting shoes and clothing.

The best way to cure round shoulders is through WILL POWER. That doesn't mean a tensing and holding back of the drooping shoulders, but correction of posture all along the line, starting with the solar plexus as the axis on which the body turns.

But keeping one's mind on the matter is hard work, isn't it? Here is an automatic corrective, an improvement on shoulder braces.

Attach a small weight to a ribbon long enough to go twice around the neck and hang down to the hips in back. Wear this, experimenting with the weight until you find what does the work, yet does not put a strain on the throat.

Wear this weight a couple of hours each morning and see how vast an improvement a month will show.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Marshmallow Sandwiches
1/2 cup diced marshmallows
1/4 cup orange juice
1/4 cup chopped almonds
1/4 cup chopped candied pineapple or other fruit
Buttered brown bread
One whole round slice of candied pineapple is quite enough if you do not know how much to buy. Other candied fruits are delicious with this filling—candied cherries for instance. Chopped dates are another variation much liked.

Cut up the marshmallows and soak enough to mash well with the back of a spoon. Run the almonds through the food chopper, but cut the candied fruit with a knife. Mix all together and spread between buttered slices of brown bread.

The amount of filling given will spread eight full sandwiches.

Gooseberry currant jam is a marvelous combination, providing you do not have to nip the blossoms.

"SARGON SAVED HER LIFE," SAYS MRS. WALKER

Weighted Only 85 Pounds and Had to Sleep Propped Up On Pillows. Gains 15 Pounds.

"I only weighed eighty-five pounds when I started the Sargon treatment, and was so weak I could hardly get around. After taking six bottles of this wonderful medicine I've gained fifteen pounds, and don't feel like the same person.

"I was in such a dreadful condition that I felt like I'd be better off dead and out of my misery than to go on suffering like I was. Indigestion and sour stomach followed every meal and gas pressed against my heart and caused such palpitation I thought I'd die. I had dreadful smothering spells and many nights I had to stay propped up in bed with pillows in order to breathe freely. My kidneys were out of order, and I was badly constipated. I saw black spots before my eyes, had dreadful pains in my back and sides, and suffered from spitting headaches. I was dreadfully nervous.

"I began taking Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills and the results were so wonderful I was surprised. I never am bothered with indigestion, sour stomach, or gas now, and my heart never gives me further concern. My kidneys are in good order again, I am no longer nervous and I sleep fine. "Sargon Soft Mass Pills regulated my liver and overcame my constipation. Now I'm entirely free from those terrible headaches.

"I believe Sargon is the most wonderful medicine in the world; and I'm just as sure it saved my life as I'm sitting here. That's why I came here to tell you about it."

The above remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Rebecca Walker, esteemed resident of Elwood, Kansas. Sargon may be obtained in Santa Ana at the Schramm-Johnson drug store.—Adv.

PAIR CHARGED WITH ASSAULT, BATTERY

A complaint charging Ross McPhee, motor boat racer, and William Slet, with assault and battery, alleged to have been committed against John Denman, of Pasadena, had been issued today by the office of District Attorney Z. B. West Jr.

According to information presented to West, McPhee and Slet attacked Denman at the house in which he was staying in Balboa late Saturday night. McPhee was asserted to have held Denman while Slet hit him.

McPhee is said to have come to the Denman place in Balboa for the purpose of visiting his children at about 11 p. m. Denman is a brother of Mrs. McPhee, who was not at the house at that time.

TO VISIT CAPITOLA

SAN CLEMENTE, July 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Easley will leave Thursday for a week's trip to Capitola, Calif. Easley, San Clemente contractor and owner of the Easley bank block now nearing completion in the Spanish village, will spend part of his time in Capitola on business, having interests there.

HOW TO END CONSTIPATION

If you want to get rid of constipation for good, you must cleanse the liver of its stored-up bile, and set it to working right. Remember it's a torpid, lazy liver clogged with bile that keeps you constipated. This surplus bile poisons your whole system, causing headaches, bad breath, salivary gland enlargement, gas, indigestion, dizziness or other disagreeable symptoms.

All that any ordinary physic does is to force a bowel movement without getting at the liver. What you really need is a thorough internal cleansing with Plantax, which brings out all the accumulated bile and other foul secretions.

Plantax is a most effective liver tonic compounded from the juices or extracts of harmless plants—remedies from Nature's own laboratory. It acts in a gentle, easy way—no irritation or weakening of the organs. Large bottle $1. On sale at all good drug stores. Always in stock at White Cross Pharmacy.—Adv.

At the Theatres MUSICAL COMEDY THEME OF PICTURE

The try-out of a musical comedy, is the theme around which is woven "On With the Show," the natural color talking picture now showing at the Fox Broadway.

The try-outs give a number of dancers an opportunity to show their skill in the art of terpsichore. Nearly all of the chorus shown in the film were borrowed from Larry Ceballos' prologue at the Warner Brothers theater in Hollywood. A group of negroes, the "Harmony Singers" outdanced every one else in the show.

FIVE TYPES SHOWN IN WALKER PICTURE

One of the most interesting features of "The Squall" now showing at the Fox Walker, is the five radically different types of women shown depicted in the film. Alice Joyce portrays a mother role; Myrna Loy that of a gypsy; Loretta Young a young and innocent girl; Zazu Pitts, a simple servant maid and Marcia Harris, a chattering gossip. The picture takes its name from the way the gypsy girl is swept into the affairs of a peaceful household in much the same way a squall descends upon a peaceful countryside.

MESSENGER HURT IN MOTORCYCLE CRASH

A Western Union motorcycle messenger was injured in a collision in the 1000 block on West Fifth street yesterday, when his motorcycle struck a coupe registered to P. W. Guyton of Garden Grove.

The victim, Milo Martin, 21, of 613 East Walnut street, was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where he was given first aid treatment for minor injuries to his left leg.

The accident was witnessed by W. H. Hammel, 1130 West Fifth street, who told Detective Sgt. Carl Adams and Officer Clyde Flower that the coupe was driven by a small boy. The boy and car had disappeared before the investigating officers arrived.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

Poor Clowny hung upon the limb while all the others laughed at him. "It's your own fault," cried Scouty. "You just tried to be too smart. Each time you try one of your tricks, you always get into some fix. You'd best not wiggle on that limb, or it will break apart."

"Aw, gee," cried Clowny. "Help me, please, and don't all stand down there and tease. I know that I was foolish to attempt this crazy trick. I thought I'd swing down safe and sound and land upon the solid ground, but now I'm over water. Throw a rope to me. Be quick!"

Then Coppy cried, with all his might, "We can't 'cause there's no rope in sight. Hang on, though, for a minute and I'll see what I can find." And then, while Clowny hung in air, the Tinies looked 'round everywhere, but couldn't find a single piece of rope of any kind.

"It's useless," Carpy shortly cried. "unless some other plan is tried. Let's try and find a good strong root of some big vine nearby."

"Here's one," yelled Coppy. "Let's try this, and trust that nothing goes amiss. It may not be quite strong enough, but it is worth a try."

They pulled the root up from the ground, and Scouty whirled it 'round and 'round and then he let it fly through air. The next thing that they knew, the root snapped here, and then snapped there. Its pieces seemed to fill the air. "Too bad," exclaimed wee Coppy. "That old root will never do."

By this time Clowny was tired out. It seemed he'd hung for hours, on doubt. "It can't hang on much longer," he exclaimed. "I'll have to drop." And, as he let go of the tree, the other Tinies shouted, "Whee!" And Clowny hit the water with a very funny plop.

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-TIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

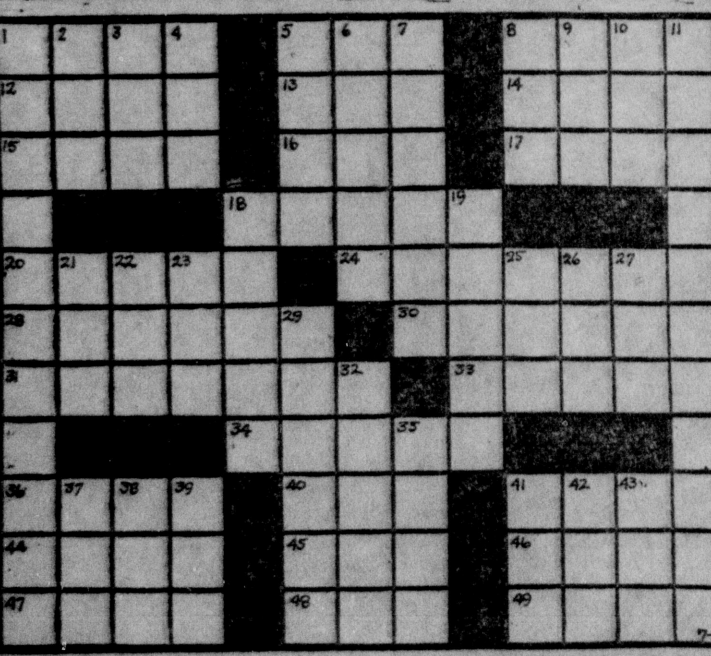

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

Jungle Breath

© 1927 by NEA Service

By Ben Lucien Burman

THIS HAS HAPPENED
LINCOLN NUNNALLY, elderly American chemist, is summoned to the little jungle-bordered town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, by his young friend, VILAK, who is concerned for the safety of his beautiful cousin, ELISE MARRBERRY, owner of a coffee plantation and other property near Porto Verde.

Several mysterious deaths have occurred, including that of TONY BARBETTA, one of Elise's foremen, and the girl herself has received warnings to get out of the country.

Vilak believes GAYLORD PRENTISS, a reticent and forbidding man, known to be an enemy of Elise, may be involved in some way in the deaths. Accordingly, he and Nunnally set out for Prentiss' house, which is guarded by barbed wire fences and a vicious dog. Elise insists on joining them. Prentiss sets the dog on them and Vilak saves his companions' lives by chloroforming it into unconsciousness.

The next day Elise's two-year-old orphaned nephew is kidnapped. They suspect Prentiss, Vilak leads the pursuit and they follow a circuitous trail of horse tracks and finally come upon the child near a railroad camp.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XV
Vilak stood silently looking on, half amused, half thoughtful. Elise turned to him, still holding the baby. "You're a dear," she murmured. "I thought it before, but I didn't know it before today. I take back everything that I said about you. I was a pig. And when I cried and completely lost control of myself you said nothing, made none of the caustic, sarcastic remarks that you might have made, but instead set about finding Tinky. And found him. It's a long time since I broke down the way I did this afternoon. But Tinky has become a part of me somehow." She leaned over and kissed Vilak impulsively.

"Here, here," he said sheepishly, taking out his cigar case. "You certainly are upset. Have one of my strong cigars and quiet your nerves." He lit one. "I'd certainly like to know how Tinky got here. I have a theory, but my friend the civil engineer, who is coming up now, looks as if he might tell us a few facts." He turned to greet the new comer, who came forward, his dark, pointed face aglow with pleasure.

"Good day, senhorita, amigos," he murmured, shaking hands cordially with the two men and bowing to the girl. "I see you the baby have once more in your arms. I am happy. Most happy."

"It is the senhorita who is happy," Vilak responded. "And she owes her happiness to you."

The other gave a disparaging shrug of his small, well-knit shoulders. "It is nothing that I do. It is nothing."

"Where did you find him?" Vilak queried.

"Over there by the bushes," he pointed off to the patch of vegetation from which they had just come. "It is very strange. Most strange. We were working here, my men and I, spreading gravel along the track where the water has washed the earth away—we cannot do much, but we do what we can—when we hear the noise of horses galloping up the road from which you have come. This is nothing. Often we hear the horses gallop. Many ride past this place. Is it not so?"

"The horses stop for a moment, then they gallop on again. And then we hear other horses gallop. But this also is nothing. This also we hear each hour. But soon also we hear something which we who work in the wild places have never in our wanderings, the weeping of a child. An Indian baby, I think, deserted by its mother. I go to the bushes to see. And there in the wilds I find it. A white baby, I am astonished. A beautiful baby, senhorita, a beautiful baby."

He took one of Vilak's cigars. "I know at once when I look that it has not been deserted. It is lost or perhaps it is stolen. I am a stranger here. Also are my men strangers. I ask of one who passes on the road if he has ever before beheld the baby, if he perhaps knows the mother. 'Ah yes!' says he at once. 'Who in Porto Verde does not know? It is the nephew of the Senhorita Marberry.'

"At once I send a man to ride swift to your fazenda, for I know how great must be your agony. He returns. You are gone, he says, where your servants know not. But I know. You have gone to look for the child. It is not good for him to stay there in the damp bushes where there are mosquitoes which bite and snakes which kill. So I bring him here where I can watch. I fetch for him a blanket so that he will not be on the cold, wet ground—I have also nephews, senhorita. Still he is not happy. He cries always, English words, which I cannot well understand. So I bring for him an orange. He eats. He is happy. At last I see you come and he is very happy."

Vilak lit the other's cigar, then his own. "Mighty decent of you. Mighty decent. Very few men would have been so thoughtful. I want to assure you that Senhorita Marberry and I are deeply grateful." He smoked thoughtfully. "You didn't have a chance to see the men who were on the horses?"

"No, senhor. It is too low here. We cannot see the road." He looked at his cigar intently. "Very excellent, these cigars. Your special brand, no doubt."

"Exactly. Oriental. I'm glad to hear you say you like them. Senhorita Marberry doesn't approve." He glanced toward her smilingly. "Incidentally I haven't introduced you. My client, Senhorita Marberry, I present for all your good wishes Senhor—" He paused for the name.

"D'Albentara. Carlos D'Albentara," the other responded graciously.

Elise stepped forward and heartily shook his hand. "I shall never forget what you've done for me. If there's ever anything that I can do or anything that my fazenda has which might help you I'll feel very much hurt if you don't ask for it. I hope you'll come out and call on me."

He bowed. "You honor me, senhorita. You do me great honor."

She glanced at the men shoveling gravel at the river's edge. "Do you think there is going to be a flood? The river seems to be getting higher all the time and I'm beginning to be worried about my property over at Villapa, about fifteen or twenty miles from here. It's always the first to get the water. I've got a good man over there, a chap named Wilson, who is very good, but he's been quite ill lately with fever and I hate to leave him be compelled to do all the fearful work of an emergency such as a flood."

"D'Albentara looked surprised. 'Wilson, you say this is his name? Could it be perhaps that I know him? A little man, black hair, and large feet, who has once worked on this railroad as an engineer?'

"No. It's a different man altogether. The one that works for me is blond and I brought him direct from the States—Do you think we'll have a flood?"

"That I wish I knew, senhorita. No one can say and perhaps afterward not be called a teller of falsehoods. But to me the river seems rising, always. And if it rises there cannot but be a flood."

The stunted Indian of the enormous nose who had brought them from the road came forward and, grunting a few guttural sentences to him, pointed off to a group of laborers sawing some trees. He turned to the visitors. "I must go back to my men, amigos," he murmured. "It is to me a great pleasure to have made your friendship. A great pleasure. Goodby, senhorita, senhor."

"Don't forget to come to see me. Soon," Elise called out blithely as they climbed to the road again.

She jumped into her saddle, then took the baby which Vilak gently lifted to her. "Life's a queer thing," she said as the horses paced slowly toward the fazenda, and she leaned down and kissed the child again.

"At two o'clock I am heartbroken at five I am simply bubbling over with joy. Simply because this little bit of humanity we happen to call Tinky is with me. Oh, I know I make a fool of myself over him," she added with a half apologetic glance at Vilak. "But I do love him. Whatever my sardonic countenance pretends to think about the folly of human emotion of affection in particular. Some people can go through life with a poker face and a poker face disposition. I can't."

Vilak untied a knot in his horse's bridle. "A poker face in my profession is at times a necessity. I thoroughly approve of love, applied to Tinky," he watched her thoughtfully as her delicate hand caressed the child. "I'm sorry. I've got bad news for you."

Vilak got himself a ring—in a very curious fashion, for it is a very curious ring.

THE CONTEST IN HOLLYWOOD

The activities of the moving picture publicity men have reacted unfavorably to the moving picture actors in their present crisis. For years the public has been trained to think of the fabulous salaries of the moving picture stars and their extravagant expenditures to the eclipse of the majority of actors who are small-part performers and are victimized.

A Hollywood correspondent writing in a current weekly states:

"The abuses and maltreatment which the picture actors—particularly the small-part players —have suffered can scarcely be overstated. Actors are sometimes forced to accept contracts offering a lump sum for their part in a picture. In these contracts there is no stipulation as to the length of the working day, or the length of the entire engagement. An actor, upon agreement must take the casting-directors' word. Actors are quite frequently paid nothing for rehearsals. There are instances of players being required to work from sixty to eighty hours a week. When on location, any-hours, from eight to twenty, have constituted a day—sometimes with an additional bonus, sometimes not."

The stars can insist upon their own terms but for every star there are many small-part players who are so overshadowed by the publicity of the star that the public has no knowledge of the conditions under which they work.

It is to correct some of the abuses under which the majority of actors work that the Actors' Equity Association has strengthened its position in Hollywood and fired its guns—for the picture actors in Hollywood were determined to have a union capable of correcting abuses and instituting reforms. The Actor's Equity Association has been a bulwark against abuse and bad practices on Broadway. Its support was needed in Hollywood where its strength had come to be appreciated and valued.

Six months ago Mr. Gilmore, president of the Actor's Equity Association and the Equity Council sent a questionnaire to all Los Angeles members of Equity and the vote was cast overwhelmingly in favor of all-Equity casts for talking pictures, 1,087 votes in favor and 88 against. Seventy per cent of the people in talking pictures are said to be members of the Actor's Equity Association.

It is well for us to note that the fight in Hollywood is not a fight for bigger and better salaries for moving picture stars but for the purpose of establishing an actor's organization in Hollywood which will be for the majority of actors, a weapon against unreasonable hours, low wages, and which will insure their self-respect.

The middle-of-the-road policy may be all right for Congress, but it certainly is a bad idea for slow drivers.

CONSCRIPTING WEALTH IN TIME OF WAR

There is now a bill before Congress to conscript labor and wealth as well as life in time of war. At a hearing on the bill recently, the last Commander of the American Legion, Col.
Spafford, while advocating a drastic measure for preparedness, admitted that it was unconstitutional to conscript wealth, because no man's property can be taken from him without due process of law. It was admitted that there was a good deal of loose talk about conscripting wealth, and under the guise of attempting to do what is impossible the extreme militarists would convert the country into an armed camp.

It is a strange inconsistency and irony that the State can take a man's life, but it cannot take his property when the life of the nation is at stake. The taxing power of the government is great, but it cannot be confiscatory. In going too far it would be restrained by the courts. Only a Constitutional amendment covering the matter would make it possible to conscript wealth and labor in peace or war. And now we should like to see the advocates of extreme preparedness start a movement to amend the Constitution, to that effect. We are inclined to the belief that their enthusiasm would be dampened somewhat in this real effort to muster all the resources of the country.

A small town is one where the court house yard has to be mowed to find the benches.

THE SERVICE FLYERS' RECORD

Because of the unusual stunts that their routine calls on them to do, flyers in the army and navy are generally supposed to run the greatest risks of all aviators.

But some figures compiled by a writer in the current Review of Reviews indicate that maybe it isn't so.

This writer added the number of miles flown in the past year in each branch of aviation and divided the total by the number of deaths, to get the average distance flown for each fatality. And here is what he found.

The naval flyer can fly for 19 years before meeting a fatal accident. The army flyer can go for 17 1-2 years; the air mail pilot can fly for 129 years—and the ordinary civilian club flyer can go only 13 1-2 years.

Considering the nature of their service, the army and navy flyers are making enviable records for safety. They don't touch the air mail's record, of course—nobody does; but they outdo the ordinary civilian flyers.

BOSTON'S CENSORSHIP AGAIN

The Boston Herald in an editorial and a cartoon comments with shame and chagrin upon the censorship by the Superintendent of Police of the city. Michael H. Crowley, the superintendent of Police, rose from the ranks of a patrolman to his present position. He is a man without education, but he can tell the people of the Athens of America what they can read and what they cannot. Of course, the censorship is not very effective, for the people of Boston need only hop on a car and go to Cambridge or Brookline and buy the prohibited book.

The last book which was not admitted into Boston is Voltaire's "Candide." The custom house officers are responsible for that probi-bition, but as the Boston Herald states, Boston will get the credit for that as well as for the others. The cartoon referred to represents a police officer and a prudish hag resting their elbows on a pile of prohibited books, including among others Wells' "The World of William Clissold," Sinclair Lewis' "Elmer Gantry," Upton Sinclair's "Oil," Dreiser's "American Tragedy," and all topped by Voltaire's "Candide."

No wonder that intelligent Boston is sensitive to the ridicule of the whole country. Why intelligent people are so helpless in the matter is hard to understand.

THE DEMOCRACY OF GOLF

Golf, which used to be considered the rich man's recreation, is a pretty democratic sort of game after all.

L. B. Maytag, wealthy Iowa washing machine manufacturer, has spent thousands of dollars on golf lessons. Recently he entered the trans-Mississippi golf tournament, his heart set on winning first place. Like all energetic golfers, he doubtless wanted that championship, right then, as badly as he wanted anything on earth.

But he failed to get it. He was beaten in the finals by a youngster who used to be a caddy, and who never was able to spend a dollar on lessons in his life. The democracy of the game tossed victory to the poor boy instead of to the rich man.

There are, so the copybooks used to say, some things that money can't buy. Victory in golf is one of them.

Submarine—Destructive In War, Destructive In Peace
Christian Science Monitor

There are few types of fighting craft from which the world is turning with more impatience and disgust than the submarine. It never had many friends, and the recurrence of tragic incidents such as that reported off the coast of Wales, where the H-47, a British undersea boat sank after colliding with the L-12, is certain to reduce the number of its champions. Only three members of the crew of the H-47 survived, twenty being trapped when the vessel went down. To the loss must be added one fatality and two men missing on the L-12.

In such circumstances it is usual to revive talk of safety devices, to direct the inventive genius of the engineer toward better methods of salvaging sunken craft, and to try to discover means by which the sea may be made safer for this arm of the navy. All this is done with the most humanitarian of motives, and with an earnest purpose to prevent loss in future. The tests in the harbors on both sides of the Atlantic—in Italy, in New England, in Florida—for instance, are carried out, not with the object of justifying the use of the submarine, but with the more commendable aim of saving a crew when trapped on the ocean bed.

No one would utter a word in disparagement of this heroic work. It demands courage and self-sacrifice to perform these hazardous experiments, too often ill-requited. But such work should be made unnecessary. For the submarine has no adequate claim to existence. The United States recognizes this. So does Great Britain. France may not, nor Italy, nor Japan, these nations persist-ing in the belief that the submarine is a highly important factor in coast defense or in maintaining communication with the colonies, and to deprive them of it would be to take from them an important means of defense at sea.

On naval grounds, the argument lacks conviction. It has been affirmed that against a huge air force, trained in the arts of war, armed with the most modern devices known to military science, and equipped with powerful engines to give them speed and endurance, the chances of the submarine in preserving communications or protecting coast lines would be slim. On moral grounds, the submarine is indefensible in the light of the uses to which it has been put. Its destruction of defenseless ships during the war is not its only indictment. Its record in time of peace condemns it—a record of which only the recent disasters need be recalled.

March 23, 1922—British submarine sunk by another British submarine off Gibraltar. Twenty-three perished.

Aug. 21, 1923—Japanese submarine foundered beside a dock at Kobe, Japan. Eighty-five perished.

Jan. 10, 1924—British submarine L-24 sunk by British battleship off Portland, England. Forty-three perished.

March 19, 1924—Japanese submarine sunk by Japanese battleship off Sasebo, Japan. Forty-nine perished.

Sept. 1, 1925—Italian submarine Sebastiano Ve-niero lost off Sicily. Fifty perished.

Sept. 25, 1925—United States submarine S-51 sunk off Block Island, R. I., by steamer City of Rome.
Thirty-three perished.

Dec. 17, 1927—United States submarine S-4 sunk off Provincetown, Mass., by Coast Guard cutter Paulding. Forty perished.

Aug. 6, 1928—Italian submarine F-14 sunk in Adriatic Sea in collision with destroyer. Thirty-one perished.

Oct. 3, 1928—French submarine Ordine lost in southern European waters. Forty-three perished.

November, 1928—British submarine Monitor sunk off Maldstone, England. Sixty perished.

Sad reading. Yet necessary, if the lesson is to be taken to heart. How often the story is repeated of a crew trapped in a battery room where cells give off poison gas, or near a torpedo chamber where explosives are stored, or in the dim light of an engine room, hot with the running of motors, and shut off from every possible means of communication with the surface. In the face of this record, it is no wonder there is a general feeling against the submarine. Let the collision off the Welsh coast serve as a reminder that a sure way to end many shocking tragedies at sea is to place a ban upon the submarine.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE UNDERSLUNG PIPE

It scented the plains of Nebraska
With a perfume more pungent and rare
Than the redolent smoke of the glowing jack oak
That perfumed the thin western air.
Long before, through the streets of Chicago,
Raved the men of the violent time
Who shut out the sun with the reek of the gun,
Rose a mist from that underslung pipe.

The polius have sniffed its aroma
As it lazily drifted away
And have paused to remark, as the sky-line grew dark
With a crisp spicy haze: "Quelle fumee!"
The gentleman sitting behind it
Was direct and brief-worded and blunt
While he thickened the gloom of a dim little room.
But the guns were rushed up to the front.

Time was when a sharp pungent fragrance
Pervaded the ambient air
Where a man lean and tall sat a trifle a-sprawl
In the polished vice-president's chair.
And visitors sniffing the odor
And eagerly asking the cause,
Would be told by a guide with a slight touch of pride
"That's the pipe, folks, of General Dawes."

And now in its briar bound hollow
A living coal quivers and flames
While the General flares through the damp London airs
On his way to the Court of St. James.
Here's hoping that long may its flavor
Grow daily more rich and more ripe
While the whole world hurrahs for Ambassador Dawes—
The man with the underslung pipe!

DECEITFUL EXPERIENCES

We know from our reading that rubber is made from the sap of trees. Otherwise we would suppose it came from seaside resort clams.

any stockings at all.

How Many Are Out Of Work?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

How many men and women are there in the United States today who want work and can find no work to do? Nobody knows.

It seems incredible, but it is a fact, that in January of 1928, when job-hunters increased rapidly, the United States Department of Labor officially declared that it had "no information whatever as to the numbers unemployed at this time or at any other time."

Yet unemployment, as Mr. Hoover has repeatedly insisted, can be dealt with intelligently only on the basis of adequate data concerning the extent of unemployment.

"To my mind," says the President, "there is no economic failure so terrible in its import as that of a country possessing a surplus of every necessity of life, with numbers willing and anxious to work, deprived of those necessities. It simply cannot be, if our moral and economic system is to survive."

And again, "For our attack on the problem, we must have this fundamental information about those who are unemployed." Such information can be obtained only through a Federal agency—through such a national employment service, for example, as that provided in the bill (S. 4157) recently introduced by Senator Wagner of New York.

In any event, the Government will take one important step ahead next year. For the first time, the census will include statistics of unemployment.

Puds Simpkins came back from his ants house in the country yesterday, and he had all his pockets full of little bits of green apples, and I was sitting on his front steps talking to him and he took out one of the apples and started to eat it, me saying, Hay, they aint to eat, green apples aint to eat.

Who sed so? Puds sed, and I sed, Well holey smokes everybody knows that. Nobody is suppose to eat green apples. I know I aint suppose to, I sed.

Well you aint everybody, Puds sed.

And he finished the apple and pulled out another one and started to eat it, saying, Of course if your too delicate to eat a teeny little green apple, thats diffrent, nobody's asking you to.

Whose delicate? I sed. If I couldent eat more green apples than you, or any other color apples either, Id resign from the world, I sed.

And I started to prove it by eating 2 every time he ate one, the result being I ate 10 in about 5 minnits, and all of a sudden I got a farsse pane on the inside of my stumick, and I grabbed a hold of the outside, saying, Owch, darn the luck, I mite of knew this would happen, I told you you awtent to eat green apples.

Well what the heck, I havent got a pane, Puds sed, and I sed, Well I have, owch, gosh shang
the luck, this just serves me right, owch, bleeve me if I ever get rid of this pane its the last time Im going to do anything I been told not to.

Wich just then the pane left just the same as if it had never been there, me saying, Well Im glad thats gone, bleeve me I wouldnt want to go through life feeling like that.

Maybe it wasent apples at all,
maybe it was just a coincidence,
Puds sed.

Wich I waited about 5 minnits for luck and then I ate 2 more just to show I was broad minded.
Proving the only way to learn anything is by experience and a lot of the time we dont pay any attention to that.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE SPICE OF LIFE

It is an old saying that variety is the spice of life.

We are beginning to realize also that variety is the secret of effective work.

I came upon a vivid illustration of this fact in the life of a great scholar the other day.

"Most of my colleagues," this great scholar said to me, "believe the fact that their daily contact with students seriously interrupts their scholarly work."

They severely separate their office hours during which their students may come to them for conference from their working hours in which they prosecute their studies and their writing.

And most of them feel that they must do their study and writing away from their offices. My experience has been different. I do all of my research and writing in the office where I meet my students. I not only save a great amount of time by being able to work at odd moments when I am not actually in conference with my students but I find that turning aside now and then for a contact with eager youth is an invigoration rather than an interruption."

The late William E. Gladstone, in the old coaching days, used to ask the drivers of the coaches who drove out of London whether the road through Highgate, Barnet, and St. Albans to the north of England, and the Holyhead Road, which followed hill and valley, was not hard on the horses, and whether the more level road which went through Slough and Oxford was not easier on the horses.

The old coachmen invariably replied that the horses used on the level Slough road lasted only half as long as the horses used on the Highgate road.

Gladstone saw in this confirmation of his belief that variety, change, now pulling against the collar up hill, and now trusting easily on level ground, is best, not only for the health of horses, but for the efficiency of men.

As life in this machine age becomes more and more highly organized, most of us find ourselves committed to more and more routine, but a little thought on our part can bring into our lives
the saving element of variety.

And more and more our captains of industry must bring their genius to bear upon the problem of conquering monotony and creating variety in the working lives of the masses.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

I DIDN'T KNOW

"What have you been doing?"

Wading in the pond? And ruined your suit? Just ruined it."

"But mother, I didn't know."

"You didn't know? Why how can you say that when only the day before yesterday I TOLD you."

All day long you hear that story. Wherever children are you hear echoes of it. "You failed on number four? Why only last week I told you that answer."

"What's that? You didn't know the address? Why don't you use your head? I told you that the other day."

The child was told. No doubt about it. But what of it? A merciful providence so created us that we could forget. If we had to remember all we heard and saw and felt, life would not be endurable. It takes a lot of living, a lot of experiencing, to know how to remember and how to forget and nature takes the safe side and lets the children forget.

If you want a child to remember something you must do more than tell him. You must first get him in a listening mood. If his mind is deaf it will not matter how wide open his ears may be.

You must tell him what you want him to know in as few words, in as clear words, as possible.

Then you must have him DO something about it. Write it down, or put the symbol of the fact he is to remember somewhere for future reference. Few children remember words spoken once, casually, as one speaks of the weather. Tell the child in the proper way and he is likely to remember.

Emotion impresses experience.

A happy emotion, joy, sets a memory joyously. A child wants to remember what made him happy. He wants to forget what made him sad. Work on that basis and the child will not trouble you so much by his forgetfulness, his "not knowing."

You see most of his not knowing is due to the fact that something within him did not wish to "know," did not wish to remember.

Remember the child is not to blame for this. Most of the time it happens because we have not caught his attention sufficiently,
we have not made the idea clear;
we have not set it in happy mood.
His forgetting is quite unconscious and he is honest when he says, I didn't know."

Telling a child something once, is rarely sufficient to register the idea so completely as to make it easier for him to remember than to forget. The telling has to be repeated in various ways, and always, something has to be DONE about it on the child's part.

There is another side to this.

We can make children remember the wrong things by the same method as we used to help them remember the right ones. So be careful that fear, anger, jealousy, does not enter into the child's memory of his experiences. Set his experiences in happy emotion and they will not be forgotten, and they will strengthen his growth in good.

CHILEAN SETTLEMENT

Settlement of trouble with Chile that almost led to serious complications was made on July 17, 1929.

On this date, United States Minister Eagan accepted an indemnity of $75,000 from the Chilean government in settlement of the "Chile affair."

During a Chilean civil war, the United States had taken sides with the established government. When rebels captured Valparaiso, where there were many Americans, including a number of sailors, inshore leave from the United States steamship Baltimore, there naturally was much ill feeling against Americans.

A mob attacked the American sailors, killing one.

However, trouble between the two nations was averted when the Chilean government apologized and paid $75,000 indemnity.
